For the small or part-time farmer, buying a used tractor may be the most practical and economical way to get the power you need without shelling out a lot of money. But how do you know what to buy and how to make the right purchase?

First you need to know what your needs are for the tractor so you can determine what to start HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Alpacas anyone?

Some still think that Pennsylvania only sports traditional agriculture, the "cows and plows syndrome," but they should think again: alternative animal husbandry is taking hold in the state and the region.

About 276 breeder farms and 31 vendors representing 1,100 alpacas were on hand last weekend during the seventh annual Mid-Atlantic Alpaca Association (MAPACA) Eastern Jubilee in the new Exhibit Hall at the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex.

The three-day event, open to the public, represented the fourth time at the Farm Show Complex and the first for the new Exhibit Hall, which was filled with many exhibitors, shows, and seminars.

Exhibit Manager Nick Melfi, Melfi Farm Alpacas in Hillsborough, N.J., noted MAPACA has 225 members. At the show, breeders came from as far away as Oregon, Canada, Texas, and Maine.

The event is the "largest alpaca show in North America," Melfi said.

On Friday, events included halter, performance, and fleece classes with free seminars. Saturday's events included more classes, free seminars, and a dinner

Compared to Tuesday's light run, slaughter steers sold fully 1 00 higher, with sales up to 1 50 higher at times When compared to last Thursday's market, prices trended near steady to firm The quality of the run was very good, with some well fed stock on offer However, live weights remain very low as there are very few steers weighing over 1400 lbs available A couple of Kosher buyers were in the hunt for some heavier cattle, and its hard to tell what a hard finished set of black cattle weighing about 1450 lbs would have sold for, especially late Buyer activity was good for the majority of the run, especially early and late, only dropping off a little as the quality dipped. The quality of the Holstein run was also very good, much to the relief of the colored cattle buyers, as they used some of the spots to put some weight on their loads. Slaughter Holstein steers sold steady to firm when compared to Tuesday's light supply. The slaughter heifer supply was mixed, in the process of over-finishing the bulk of them, the females got a little too much age on them with some looking like they had either calved or sluffed a calf Therefore, most of the heifers were either put in the Yield Grade 4 category, or quoted as Heiferettes Breaking and Boning cows sold firm to 1 50 higher, with Lean cows trading 50 to mostly 1.00 higher; with prices up to 1 50 higher on a few standouts Slaughter bulls sold with a higher undertone when compared to Tuesday's light supply. The cattle run included 601 steers, 84 heifers, 384 cows, 104 bulls, with the balance 132 head of feeders.

Compared to last week, slaughter steers sold 50-1 00 lower early, trading 1 00-1 50 higher late in the week The quality of the stock early in the week was below average, with the late week supply consisting of some very well finished steers The only thing lacking late in the week was weight, as the Kosher buyers were looking high and low trying to put a load together averaging over 1400 lbs The weights of the carcasses hanging in the coolers in the western packinghouses are also lighter, but that is to be expected as packers continue to pick green cattle out of the direct yards as the feedlots cash in on the bullish market The situation in Pennsylvania is different, live weights are down because producers are feeding their last bucketful of corn, as the feed situation remains severe The direct yards moved the bulk of their cattle from 78 00-78 50 this week, which is firm to 1 00 higher Dressed sales in Nebraska sold 1 00 higher at mostly 125 00 There is a drastic difference between Choice and Select cutout values, over 17 cents to be exact However, the major feeding areas in the western states must not be shying away from sending them to the rail on the Choice/Select bubble hoping they will grade Choice, as the USDA is reporting steers estimated to grade under 35 percent Choice to over 80 percent Choice, from 77 00-79 00 The slaughter heifer supply was mixed this week, with the heaviest run coming late in the week. Although, the bulk of the late week run had some age on it, and was discounted The slaughter Holstein runs remain very good, with many buyers still using the hard-feds to put some weight on their colored loads Holstein steers continue to trade steady to firm from week to week Lean slaughter cows sold near steady the opening two days of the week; with fleshy cows taking a hit on Monday and Tuesday as prices were 1 00-2 00 lower Late in the week, buyer demand and attendance picked up and all grades of cows as prices were 50-1 50 higher The cow runs keep getting lighter in Lancaster County, which is expected as the grass is green Farmers would rather turn them out on grass, especially if they can still get a few pounds of milk out of them every day, than hassle with bringing them to town as they are right in the middle of their fieldwork The reported supply in Lancaster County this week included 957 head of steers, 149 heifers, 879 cows, 258 bulls, and 268 head of feeder cattle

Slaughter Steers High Choice and Prime 2-4 1205-1465 lbs 79 25-82 60, few 79 00-79 75, up to 83 00 late in the week Choice 2-3 1135-1480 lbs 76 75- 80 75, up to 81 25 late in the week, couple Brahma-X's 75 00, Charolais and Limi-X's 76 00-82 75 with a 1500 single at 81 50 Choice 2 1160-1390 lbs 79 25-82 00, couple high dressers 83 75-85 75 Choice 4 1095-1370 lbs 73 75- 77 50 Select and low Choice 2-3 1070-1440 lbs 74 75-77 35 Select 1-2 1020- 1415 lbs 70 00-75 75, few heavier muscled up to 76 50 Standard 1-2 includes some two-ways 995-1225 lbs 62 00-68 75

Holstein Steers High Choice and Prime 2-3 1250-1590 lbs 69 00-72 50, couple fancy beef-X's

New Holland Hog Auction

NEW HOLLAND, PA
April 28, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

Receipts: 911 Last Week: 516 Last Year: 936. Compared to last week, barrows and gilts sold mostly 4.00 higher. Bidding was very active, with a relatively nice supply on hand. At the Sioux Falls, South Dakota and St. Paul, Minnesota terminal markets prices for 220-270 pounders were from 39.00-41.00 on Monday; which shows prices are extremely bullish no matter what sale barn you're sitting in. For week ending April 25th, the western hog market had advanced 6.00-6.50, and by the looks of things early in the week it shows no signs of stopping. Percent Lean Weight Price 49-54 220-270 lbs 38.25-40.25, package 41.00 275-300 lbs 36.35-38.75 package 315 lbs 33.75 45-50 220-270 lbs 34.25-38.50 290-325 lbs 33.10-35.75. New Holland Feeder Pig Auction

NEW HOLLAND, PA
April 30, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

Receipts: 398; Last Week: 236 Year Ago: not available.

Compared to last week, slaughter pigs sold very uneven. Demand and bidding were both very good on the 20 lb lots, but wavered on all other weights. As of April 23rd all pigs at the New Holland graded sale will go to slaughter until further notice, no pigs may be purchased to go back to the farm to put on feed.

CUSHIONED EGG

Electronic Drives
The innovative, electronically-controlled drive system enables eggs to be transported at a smooth, continuous speed on an endless conveyor with drive units located intermittently up to 150' apart.

Optimum Rod Spacing
Space between each cushioned rod is the key to egg separation and preventing smaller eggs from slipping through the conveyor while allowing all debris to be sifted out.

Design Flexibility
The unique "Cushioned Rod" egg conveyor enables you to custom design a system that gently transports eggs up, down, around corners and in a continuous straight line without transfer, and even declines to match processing equipment.

Custom Corners

ROD CONVEYOR TRANSPORT SYSTEM

Uni-Trac Construction
The "Cushioned Rod" egg conveyor is setting industry standards for efficiency. flexibility and cost savings with a unified construction design that eliminates the problems of egg transfer.

Rol-Link Chain System
An endless, custom designed, roller chain system and flexible cushioned plastic rods, cradle eggs in a gentle position that helps eliminate collisions and breakage.

The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

MAY 5–11, 2003

TRUMAN DAY (MO.), MAY 8

IT'S MOM'S DAY!

Happy Mother's Day on May 11. A Japanese proverb says that "a father's goodness is higher than the mountains, a mother's goodness is deeper than the sea." In 1872 in America Julia Ward Howe was the first to propose a day set aside to honor mothers, and in 1905, Miss Anna M. Jarvis of Philadelphia continued the cause. It wasn't until 1914, however, that President Woodrow Wilson signed a bill declaring the second Sunday in May a legal holiday to be celebrated as Mother's Day. So do the right thing, and call your mother!

–George Herbert, English poet (1593–1633)

TIP OF THE WEEK

Clean eyeglasses using a drop of vinegar on each lens. Dry with a lint-free cloth.

LEMON LACE COOKIES

2 cups (4 sticks) butter
1 cup sugar
2 cups flour
3 cups rolled oats
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
powdered sugar, to dust

Cream butter and sugar. Add other ingredients, except for powdered sugar. Cover and chill for at least 30 minutes. Preheat oven to 350°F. Drop rounded teaspoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheets, then press flat with the bottom of a glass dipped in the powdered sugar. Bake for 12 to 15 minutes. When cool, sprinkle with powdered sugar, as desired. (The juice and zest of an orange can be substituted for the lemon.) Makes about 4 dozen large cookies.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

Warm and nice, but the lake's still like ice.

Hanging Tough

More than 16 months of depressed dairy prices — prices to producers that have dropped through the floor while the price of a gallon of milk remains virtually unchanged at the checkout counter — have placed unbelievable hardship and strain on our dairy families, many of whom read our paper and depend on us for advice, for solutions.

Are these these desperate times seeking desperate measures?

At least for the past year, according to Pennsylvania Farm Bureau (PFB) estimates, the price received by dairy farmers has been below the cost of production.

Some striking (and maddening) facts were reported by Mike Evanish, manager of PFB Members' Service Corporation's Business Services. According to Evanish, though the dairy enterprise has been the "shining star" of Pennsylvania agriculture in the past few years, it was PFB's conclusion, after reviewing taxes (which is what Evanish does), that when a farm was profitable, "it was the result of government programs and crop insurance proceeds — not commodity sales." (emphasis ours).

You can shake your heads in disgust, but the horror story continues from there. Nearly every other commodity produced in Pennsylvania, noted Evanish, is sold at a price below the cost of production.

Though many other concerns were at the forefront of a media meeting at Farm Bureau's Camp Hill offices late last week, including property tax reform, tort reform, ag education, homeland security, and other issues, the viability of ag remains at stake.

According to Evanish, because dairy is struggling, "infrastructure is more at risk than ever. It is well documented that once infrastructure is lost, it doesn't come back."

Evanish means the infrastructure that includes vets, loan officers, accountants, technical experts such as mechanics, agronomists, feed specialists, and suppliers, labor, and equally as important, neighbors who share the same concerns.

Evanish noted he grew up in Pittsburgh and watched the steel industry disappear. "So much has gone away, and you can't bring it back," he said. "We have to have a profitable farm business, not a farm business getting handouts."

Farm Bureau in the state is home to about 32,000 members, and big emphasis is attracting and keeping the young and beginning farmers. We have a story about the Young Farmer and Rancher programs elsewhere this issue. But if more farms continue to opt out of dairying, can the state survive on tree farms, raising vegetables, hatcheries, and looking for other viable niche markets? And how can those farms be passed to the next generation?

Can it survive the onslaught of illegal ordinances that prohibit agriculture?

If processors decide to merge, or producers would cooperative as

Now Is The Time

By Leon Ressler

Lancaster County Extension Director

To Vote In Primary Election May 20

Pennsylvania will conduct its primary election May 20. In the primary election candidates are selected within each party for the ballot for the fall general election. Because this year's election focuses on local and countywide races, some people refer this as an off-year election. This can lead you to believe that this year's election is less important than elections where state and national offices are on the ballot.

However, if you accept this logic, you are making a significant mistake. Offices on the ballot this year include county commissioner, school board director, and township supervisor, among others. Decisions made by those elected to these positions will have a significant impact on your family's life and your ability to operate your agricultural business.

County commissioners have many responsibilities, including local funding and direction of the county agricultural preservation program, local funding for agricultural agencies, and management of county growth. Local township official's decisions impact zoning and numerous regulations that can impact your business. School board directors operate your local school district and their decisions impact the quality and cost of education in your community. At each of these levels of local government, decisions are made which directly affect the tax structure as well as tax rate.

While this is a very busy time of the year, you can't afford to ignore this important election. If you don't have time to research all of the candidates on your ballot, ask someone you trust who has studied the issues to give you an update. Reading a voter's guide from a respected organization you are familiar with is another way to get a lot of information with a minimal time investment. Don't let the off year label on this year's election fool you. This is important!

To Seek Alternatives To CCA-Treated Lumber

On March 17, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) granted the voluntary cancellation and use termination requests affecting virtually all residential uses of chromated copper arsenate (CCA)-treated wood. Under this action, affected CCA products cannot be used after Dec. 30, 2003 to treat lumber intended for use in most residential settings. This transition affects virtually all residential uses of wood treated with CCA, including play structures, decks, picnic tables, landscaping timbers, residential fencing, patios, and walkways/boardwalks.

This action was proposed in February 2002 by the registrants of CCA-pesticide products used to treat wood. Phase-out of the residential uses will reduce the potential exposure risks to arsenic, a known human carcinogen, thereby protecting human health, especially children's health and the environment.

The current action follows up on the February 2002 publication of a notice of receipt of voluntary cancellation/use termination requests, which also provided an opportunity for public comments to be submitted to EPA. A notice of the cancellation order will be published in the Federal Register, and that document will include the agency's response to comments. Consumers may continue to buy and use the treated CCA wood for as long as it is available.

The transition to using the new generation treatment products is well under way. The agency is deferring any action on two uses involved in the termination requests; therefore, wood used in permanent wood foundations and fence posts for agricultural uses may continue to be treated with CCA at this time.

EPA is working with the registrant community and other stakeholders to ensure that safer, comparable alternatives will be available. EPA is continuing its work on an ongoing comprehensive reevaluation of CCA-treated wood that has been under way as part of the agency's effort to reevaluate older pesticides to ensure that they meet current health and safety standards. More information on CCA treated wood is available at http://www.epa.gov/pesticides/factsheets/chemicals/1file.htm.

HIDING JESUS

Background Scripture:
Mark 7:24-37.
Devotional Reading:
Luke 7:1-10.

When I was a pastor in suburban Harrisburg, there was an old table in the basement on which was situated the church's mimeograph machine. Weekly I labored at it to produce the church's worship bulletin. The table was a mess, covered with layers and layers of mimeograph ink and dirt. I was all for replacing it with a sturdy metal table.

However, one day one of my parishioners, Lemuel Hoover, asked to see the table before I disposed of it. After looking at it a few minutes, he asked to take it to his workshop. Weeks later he brought it back, one of the most beautiful pieces of furniture I have ever seen. All those years, I and other pastors had labored at that table and had not known of the beautiful treasure that was hidden beneath the dirt and grime.

Something like that often happens to the gospel. This treasure often becomes covered with layers of theology, ritual, church politics, and civil religion, so that we miss the original truth, beauty, and power of it. That is why both Christians and churches need frequent spiritual renovations, revivals, and renewal in order to find anew the priceless treasure within. Otherwise, like my table, the gospel may look grim and worthless.

He Won't Stay Hidden!

The miracle, however, is that, despite our conscious and unconscious efforts to hide Jesus, he cannot remain hidden. Mark tells us that Jesus and his disciples entered the region of Tyre and Sidon. "And he entered a house, and would not have anyone know it; yet he could not be hid" (Mark 7:24). Later on, when he is traveling from Sidon to the Sea of Galilee, he heals a man who was handicapped both by deafness and a speech impediment. After the healing, Jesus "charged them to tell no one; but the more he charged them, the more zealously they proclaimed it" (7;36).

We seem to have two forces in play here. One the one hand, it is a human trait to knowingly or unknowingly hide Jesus under the trappings of our own humanity. On the other, there is in the long run something inherent in Jesus that will not permit us to get away with hiding him or keeping him a secret. We may obscure him for a while, but we cannot keep him hidden.

Jesus and his disciples went into the regions of Tyre and Sidon to temporarily get away from the crowds. Now known throughout Galilee, Jesus might expect that in this land of non-Jews he could catch his breath in anonymity. But then a Syrpophoenician woman comes to him, begging for him to cast out a demon from her daughter. Why did this Greek woman come to Jesus? Because, Mark says that she had "heard of him" — his reputation had preceded him from Galilee.

Jesus Beyond The Layers

It might sound as if Jesus wants to restrict his ministry to his fellow Jews. He even sounds insulting: "It is not right to take the children's bread and throw it to the dogs" (7:27). Does Jesus really see the Greek woman as a "dog"? This sounds out of step with the rest of what we know of him.

I believe Jesus is using some commonly held prejudices to expose their hardness of heart. Perhaps he perceives that she will not easily be rebuffed. His answer would have caused most of us to turn tail, but this determined woman ever so politely throws Jesus' words back in his face, so that, without apology, he can proclaim: "For this saying you may go your way; the demon has left your daughter" (7:29,30.).(By comparison, our prayers may seem pretty ineffectual.)

Is it not true that many of us try to hide Jesus, dressing him up as Methodist, or Baptist, Presbyterian, Lutheran, or Episcopalian? Painting him over with colors that will appeal only to the "chosen few"? Spreading layers of our culture, economics, or ideology over him until he disappears from sight?

Soren Kirekegaard wrote: "Order the parsons to be silent on Sundays. What is there left? The essential things remain: their lives, the daily life with which the parsons preach. Would you, then, get the impression by watching them that it was Christianity they were preaching?"

Watching us at our daily lives, do others see us incarnating the gospel or something else? Are we revealing him to the world or hiding him?

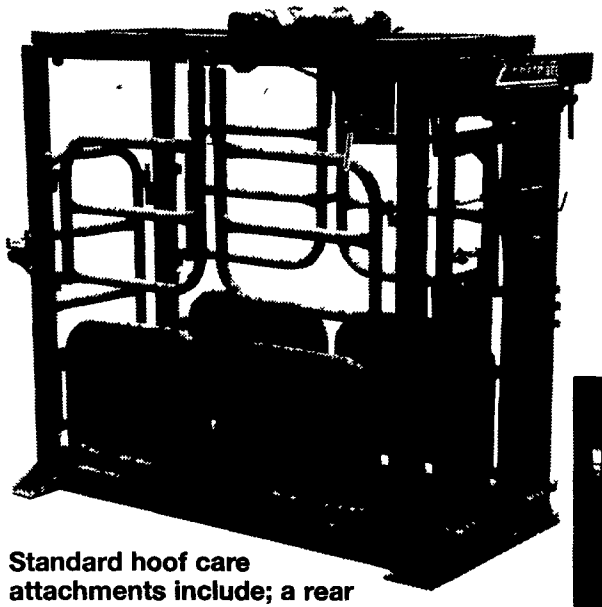
Paul B. Zimmerman INC.

Commercial Beef Cattle Chute

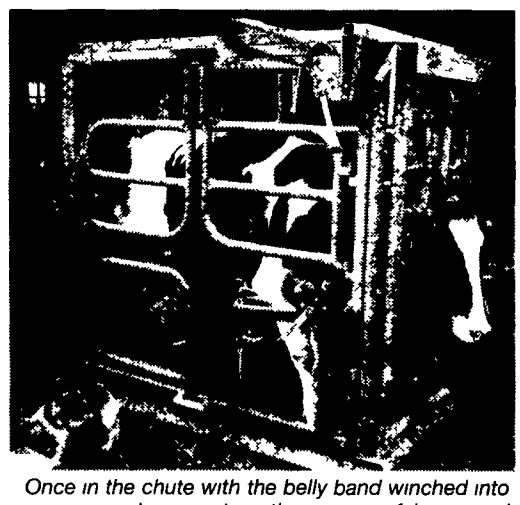


This highly versatile equipment can be used to secure a cow safely and efficiently for foot care or veterinary services.

Side panels and gates easily replace hoof care accessories to create a vet chute where almost any common vet procedure can be performed.

Standard hoof care attachments include; a rear splatter board, rear foot winch, two front foot winches and a full width belly band and winch to lift the animals weight off their feet. All winches have heavy duty friction brakes providing constant, positive holding action.

ALL STEEL PARTS ARE POWDER COATED USING THE PBZ FIVE-STEP PROCESS.



Once in the chute with the belly band winched into working position, the cow is safely secured for foot treatment

"WAFFLE SLAT" Syri-Con Corporation

Harold Keeney; David, Nancy & Mark Wolfskill

Our original plan was to install scrapers. But after 10 minutes in a slatted barn in Somerset County, we changed our minds. Some people stay away from slats because of the initial cost, but that extra cost is made up for in the first couple years.

The one thing I like the most about slats is that there is no expense. I don't have any scrapers or drive units to maintain. I don't have to run scrapers every day or haul manure like we did in our previous tie stall barn. The cows' foot health has been a lot better, and the cows stay much cleaner. Our milk production is up and the somatic cell count has gone down. I give at least some of the credit to the slats because with less moisture on the floor, there is less bacteria.

-David Wolfskill

STOP

Horn Flies and Face Flies where they start.

Use Vigilante - and bang - it's done. There's no withdrawal for meat or milk. And the action is entirely weatherproof so leave them where they lay before they start to poke holes in your cattle - or your profits.

Treat with Vigilante at the same time you deworm and vaccinate in the spring.

COLLECTING MILK IN A MOLDOVAN VILLAGE

I just returned from spending a week in the Moldovan village of Cuconestii. This small village is in Northwest Moldova just across the border from Romania. I worked with a new dairy cooperative to assist them with a financial analysis of their business.

Everything is different in this former USSR country. With the collapse of the Soviet Union, the entire infrastructure in the village collapsed. This was a very prosperous place. You could see it in the houses in the village. They had large collective farms that produced dairy products as well as fruits and vegetables. They even had a mill for processing flour.

My host showed me a house that was built for the workers on the dairy farm. It had a cafeteria, televisions, showers, etc. This was luxury for the village. Now the building and the collective farm lay in ruins. All the jobs are gone.

The dairy cooperative was formed after the breakup of the collective farm system. That resulted in a short period of time when the cheese plants could not find milk at all. Now, just over 1,000 villagers with 2-3 cows supply the milk to the cooperative. This milk is used solely to produce cheese.

There are several collection stations throughout the village. Twice a day the villagers haul

Average Farm Feed Costs for Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

East Fluid Milk And Cream Review

Madison, Wis.
April 23, 2003
Report Supplied by USDA

Spot prices of class II cream, dollars per lb. butterfat: F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: 1.3110-1.4640. Delivered Equivalent: Atlanta: 1.3329-1.4640 mostly 1.3547-1.4203.

PRICES OF CONDENSED SKIM, dollars per lb. wet solids, F.O.B. producing plants: Northeast: Class II, includes monthly formula prices: .8500-.9800; Class III - spot prices - .7400-.8000.

SPOT SHIPMENTS OF GRADE A MILK: FLORIDA: This Week: In 0, Out 159; Last Week: In 0, Out 186; Last Year: In 0, Out 146. SOUTHEAST STATES: This week: In 0, Out 0; last week: In 0, Out 0; last year: In 0, Out 0.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Due to recent changes in milk supply agreements, milk import/export totals are not directly comparable to year ago figures and to shipments prior to April 1, 2003.

Milk production ranges from slightly lower in the Deep South to slightly higher in the Far North. Florida and other Gulf Coast States are seeing milk output drop slowly from the peak. The milk flow continues to increase in the Middle Atlantic area and the Northeast. Shipments out of Florida are lighter this week as their milk output is easing and Class I milk demand is steady. Fluid milk supplies remain burdensome throughout the region, but manufacturing capacity is available. However, reports indicate that a portion of a large manufacturing plant was down for several days last week and milk was still being diverted to other plants early this week. Reportedly, they are now caught up and "things" are back to normal. Bottled milk sales ranged from unchanged to improved in areas where schools are back in session and first-of-the-month orders are being filled.

The condensed skim market is weak and prices are mostly steady. Offerings are more than current demand can clear, which is forcing more skim through dryers. Occasional, unconfirmed reports indicate that some distressed loads did move at prices below the market.

The fluid cream market remains weak. Contacts report that demand is not improving as anticipated for spring and increasing volumes of excess cream are clearing to butter producers. Spot demand for Class II cream is steady to slower. Multiples did drop this week as suppliers try to stimulate some interest. Also, the CME weekly average butter price did decline fractionally last week. According to cream producers and suppliers, ice cream output is not overly active for this late in April. Improving weather conditions in the East is helping soft serve mix sales. Cream cheese production is about steady. Bottled cream production is starting to see improvement as the strawberry season starts.

Shropshires Perform Double Duty On Menhennett Farm

Farm's Cheese Will Be Sold At Maryland Sheep, Wool Festival

MICHELLE KUNJAPPU
Lancaster Farming Staff

COCHRANVILLE (Chester co.) — Each morning Annette Menhennett lines up about 12 Shropshire ewes and coaxes them, six at a time, through a small door and into a parlor where they nuzzle in and eat their ration of grain.

Although Shropshire sheep may not be noted for their milk-producing ability, Menhennett has milked several of her 110-head flock to produce the farm's cheese since 1990.

Most of the farm's income stems from the sale of the lambs at market; however, making cheese has proven to be an enjoyable sideline for Menhennett and farm manager Lee Cook.

Besides managing the farm, Cook also produces the farm's cheese.

The 90-acre farm is home to more than 100 purebred registered Shropshires. The breed, according to Cook, is "an old, standard general-purpose market sheep that make good lambs and good mothers," he said.

The ewes produce 2½ gallons of milk in the twice-a-day milkings, and all of the milk goes to cheese production.

In the beginning of lactation, Menhennet's best ewes will give 40 ounces of milk in the morning and 25-30 ounces of milk in the evening. Later in lactation those ewes may give between 40-50 ounces for the day.

"We don't start milking until the lambs are weaned, so we wait 30 days," Cook said.

Menhennet begins milking the goats about March 1 and usually ends the fourth of July, a real "Independence Day," for her, she said.

"When we resume milking in February, if they (the ewes) have had a lamb that's 30 days old, we'll take her and check her udder" to decide if she should go into the milking string, Menhennett said.

The breed is "noted for longevity, so a good Shropshire ewe can go on producing lambs up to age 12," she said. As for milking, "1180 has milked 3-4 years, and I hope to continue milking her another four years," she said.

Additionally, while ewes of other breeds lactate 60-90 days, a Shropshire ewe's lactation may last five months.

Although Menhennet views the dairy/cheesemaking aspect of the farm as a sideline, she does keep an eye on the dairy traits of her animals.

"I'm breeding for a fast-growing, well-muscled market lamb," said Menhennett. However "if 1180 (one of the best milk producers) has a ewe lamb, we'll try to keep the lamb and she if she is like her mother," she said.

Lambing season is the end of January through April.

Beginning Of A Dairy

Menhennett and her husband, Warn, had purchased their farm in 1965, bought five sheep in 1967, and constructed the outbuildings and barns on the operation.

In 1989 she toured, along with a small groups of sheep aficionados, several sheep operations in various countries. The trip included a stop at sheep dairies in Norway and Iceland.

The seed was planted when Menhennet sat through a short course on sheep dairying in Scotland, which helped point her toward dairying. "That's what intrigued me," she said.

When she came back from the tour, then, she was ready to begin dairying in 1990, where she milked the sheep and made cheese "in a very small way — I first made cheese in the kitchen."

The couple built the parlor in 1992.

"It's very rich milk," said Cook. With the higher butterfat and milk solid percentages in the milk, "we get about twice as much cheese per gallon," than Annette Menhennett operates a 110-head Shropshire market lamb and cheese farm. She has attended the Maryland Sheep and Wool Festival since the 1970s and sells all the farm's cheese at the event.

The breed is "noted for longevity, so a good Shropshire ewe can go on producing lambs up to age 12," Menhennett said.

cow's milk," he said. "Lambs gain a pound per day, so that milk's got a lot of nutritional value."

The dairy has a permit and is inspected by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA).

The cheese is produced in a garden-shed-turned "cheese house," according to Cook.

"We've been making cheese on the farm for six years," said Cook, a full-time technologist in the semiconductor industry.

The milk is chilled overnight before it is pasteurized in a two-gallon pasteurizer. Culture (a bacteria) is added and the mixture is left to sit while the acidity increases. "We propagate our own culture from cultures she (Menhennett) brought back from Greece," he said.

"All cheese is made from the bacterial fermentation of milk — it's what happens to the constituents of the milk during fermentation that determines its taste... also the aging and treatment of the product. Every little thing you do has an effect on the taste."

Next Cook adds rennet, which coagulates the mix into curds. Lee drains the curds and lets them sit for 24 hours.

Cook makes three types of cheese: a drain curd cheese, a press cheese, and a Greek-style handform cheese.

These cheese they make are "typical of farm cheese made in Eastern Europe," he said. "We make about a half-dozen different varieties in different quantities."

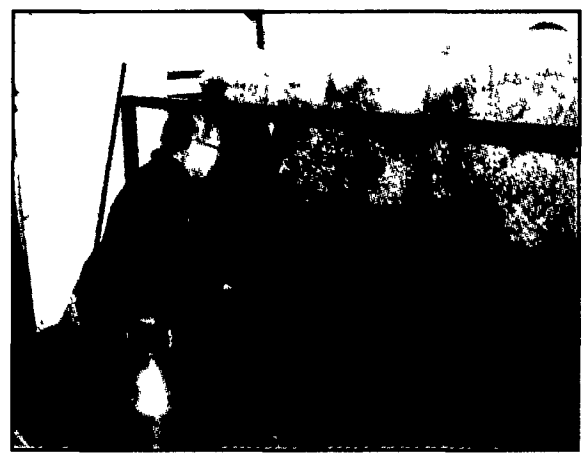
These varieties include cheese curds with herbs, a kind of spreadable cheese, smoked cheese, feta-style cheese, and a small amount of blue-veined cheese.

The cheeses are aged for three months to a year, depending on the cheese..

Sheep, Wool Festival

Menhennett has been selling cheese since the early '90s; however she has been attending the Maryland Sheep and Wool Festival since the late 1970s.

Menhennet recommends the festival if anyone "likes to eat lamb, likes nice wool sweaters, rugs, hand-woven items, likes to look at different kind of sheep, likes to watch border collies work



Above and at right, Menhennett milks two groups, usually around 12 total, of sheep twice a day.

— if they have any curiosity about sheep, that's where to go," she said.

She originally began going to the event to exhibit her Clun Forest sheep, but the last few years selling the farm's cheese has replaced taking any sheep to the festival.

"It's an easy market. We sell everything in two days," she said. "When we first started selling it, people would come by the booth and say, "Oh, sheep's milk — yuck.' Now they line up."

"We've got people pestering us as we set up," he said. "There are loyal folks that keep coming back. We sell everything we can produce.

"Last year we sold the entire year's production inside of six hours," said Cook.

Menhennett gains new fans from the samples of cheese that they give out during the festival.

Seventy pounds of dry ice keep the cheese cool during the event. "The health department comes around checking for temperature and our hand-washing facilities," she said.

For this year's festival, "we made all the cheese we could,"

New Born Foal Management

Fredrick R. Hofsaess, Ph.D.
Professor of Animal Science
Delaware Valley College

Once the foal has been born, allow the mare and foal to rest undisturbed until the umbilical cord breaks due to either the foal moving or the mare standing.

Recognize that some mares become quite protective of a newborn foal and enter the stall cautiously with an assistant who can hold the mare's head.

The umbilical stump should be dipped in a container of tincture of iodine. It is important to totally submerse the stump in iodine so that the iodine is drawn into any vessels which have not completely closed when the cord broke. The proper and frequent treatment of the umbilical stump is essential to reduce the chances of navel or foal ill.

The udder of the mare should be washed thoroughly to remove the encrusted dirt and stimulate milk letdown. The nipples should be stripped to remove any occlusions in the streak canals and to also stimulate milk flow.

Once the foal is in dorsal recumbancy (sitting on its chest) and has a nurse reflex it is possible to bottle-feed the foal colostrum from its mare, if desired. At Delaware Valley College, we routinely bottle feed foals at about one hour after birth. A plastic water or soda bottle fitted with a lamb nipple works well for bottle feeding foals.

Most mares tolerate being milked, especially if an assistant holds the head. Any colostrum not consumed by the foal may be frozen for future use.

Foals should stand and nurse on their own within three hours of birth. Generally, it is not recommended that assistance be provided in aiding foals to stand, as they need time to gain muscle tone and coordination. Foals not standing/nursing within three hours of birth may need veterinary attention.

Meconium, a tar-like material found in the intestine of newborns, is generally passed as a result of the ingestion of colostrum and the laxative effects of colostrum.

However, an enema may be "good" insurance in preventing impaction colic. Fleet enemas, available in drug stores, work very effectively. Usually a single enema, given after the foal nurses, is sufficient.

Since most foals are born at night, a veterinarian should examine the foal the following morning.

If the mare was not vaccinated for tetanus in late pregnancy, treating the foal with tetanus antitoxin may be warranted.

Aside from a physical exam, the veterinarian should draw blood to determine that the foal has absorbed the antibodies from the colostrum. If the foal were immuno-deficient, a serum transfer would be required. There are a number of rapid IgG tests available for the detection of immuno-deficiency.

Healthy foals require exercise to tone and strengthen muscles. Turning the mare and her foal out in a small paddock the morning after birth may be beneficial to both and may aid in reducing post foaling colic in the mare.

Avoid leaving the foal out so long that it becomes tired and lies down on the wet, cold ground. After 7-10 days, the mare and foal may generally be turned out with other mares and foals.

Most foals will begin mimicking the mare and attempting to "eat" at seven to 10 days of age. Feeding the mare in a location that is accessible to the foal should encourage this.

Begin deworming the foal (with approved compounds) at one week of age and continue monthly thereafter.

As the foal learns to consume grain, a foal feeder or a creep feeder should be provided. At three to four months of age, vaccinations should be administered to the foal.

PHA Conducts Spring Heifer Sale

CHARLENE SHUPP
Lancaster Farming
Special Correspondent

MIDDLETOWN (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Holstein Association conducted another successful annual Holstein heifer sale at their farm facility in Middletown Friday, April 25.

After the final rap of the gavel, Carrdale R Marker Carly topped the sale at a purchase price of $1,650. "Carly" was purchased by Ken Reist of Lebanon, Lebanon County. Carrdale Holsteins of Somerset, Somerset County, consigned this top selling summer yearling.

Meadow-Wood Farms of Lebanon purchased the second highest selling heifer, Carrdale Pyramid Morgan, for $1,575. The consignors were Carrdale Holsteins.

Gutman Brothers of Baltimore, Md., acquired the third highest selling animal, Kehr-Acres Miklin FBC 979, a spring yearling, at $1,560. Kenneth Kehr of Littlestown, Adams County, was the consignor.

The fourth highest selling entry, Fox-Field Pebble, was owned by Wauregan Farms from Wayne, Maine, and sold for $1,550 to Meadow-Wood Farms. To round out the top five, Carrdale Holsteins' bred heifer, Carrdale Geno Blythe, sold to Gutman Brothers of Baltimore Md. for $1,535.

Sponsored by the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, the Holstein ID Heifer Sale sold 202 lots of bred heifers, open heifers, and bulls resulting in a sale average of approximately $1,050.

banquet. Halter, performance, and fleece classes continued Sunday, with championship classes wrapping up the event.

Several seminars were also conducted. On Friday, Kim DeVos, Creekside Breeders Ltd. And Inca Fashions, spoke about "Fiber Products — What do You Have to Gain?"

Other seminars included alpaca health management and reproduction, getting started with Alpacas, and marketing your farm and your alpacas.

Alpacas, which have one of the world's finest and most luxurious natural fibers, have been domesticated for more than 5,000 years. There is an Alpaca Owners and Breeders Association (AOBA).

There are two types of alpacas — the Huacaya and the Suri. Gentle and easy to handle, the lifespan of the alpaca is about 20 years and gestation is 11.5 months. Alpacas eat grasses and chew a cud.

Alpacas were a cherished treasure of the ancient Incan civilization and played a central role in the Incan culture located on the high Andean Plateau and mountains of South America.

For more information about the association, contact AOBA at P.O. Box 1992, Estes Park, CO 80517-1992, or online at www.AlpcaInfo.com.

Vector: No Tobacco This Year

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Vector Tobacco, the company that had contracted with local farmers the past two years to grow a nicotine-free variety of tobacco, will not be needing a new crop this season, according to a report in the Lancaster Intelligencer Journal Thursday.

The Quest brand of low- and no-nicotine cigarettes is being sold in seven states — with plans for expanding sales across the whole country.

For now, however, the company says it has enough tobacco.

"The Quest product rollout is going well, and we continue to work toward a national launch," a Vector spokewoman said Wednesday. "However, we do have adequate inventory at this time.

Growers who contracted to exclusively grow Vector's nicotine-free tobacco received $1.50 a pound for their 2001 and 2002 crops, compared to average prices of about 65 cents per pound for the tobacco they grew in previous years.

The Vector tobacco was processed by Trileaf Tobacco, which operated a receiving station in New Holland.

Pennsylvania farmers grew 7.1 million pounds of tobacco for Vector last year. Three-quarters of that crop was grown in Lancaster County, mostly by Amish farmers, and accounted for nearly all the tobacco grown here, according to Pamela Haver, Trileaf's executive vice president.

Oklahoma Feeder Cattle Weekly

Oklahoma City, OK
April 30, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

OKLAHOMA NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Weekly Cattle Summary — Compared to last week: Feeder cattle and calves steady to 1.00 higher, with the exception of large supply of 800-900 lb steers steady to 1.00 lower. Demand very good for all classes, despite the large supply of heavy weight cattle. Demand bolstered by empty pen space and good movement of finished and nearly finished cattle from feedlots.

Receipts this week 15,735; last week 9103; last year 11,119. Supply consisted of 86% yearlings over 600 lbs; 11% calves and light yearlings; 3% cows and bulls. Heifers comprised 43% of feeder and calf supply.

Prices follow with weighted average weight and price in parenthesis.

PIT POWER

Farmers and composters - Here is a breakdown for compost and manure pits and manure piles! Pit Power is bacteria and bacteria feeders that break down solids in manure pits and septic tanks and breakdown compost faster
Clean out your pit with ease, use Pit Power! One gallon of Pit Power per 10,000 to 20,000 gal of pit volume Should be repeated approx 2 times a year! If aeration of the pit is possible, it will help the bacteria to grow and work faster to break down solids Pit Power's purpose is to add life (bacteria) in the manure, which then is returned to the soil where a bacteria is working The smell of pit manure is not so strong Pit Power is a non-toxic product - Life to Feed Life!

Price is $58.00 per gallon

National Feeder Cattle Weekly Review

St. Joseph, Mo.
Friday, April 25, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

NATIONAL FEEDER & STOCKER CATTLE SUMMARY - Week ending Apr. 25: Total Receipts: 296,700; last week 424,300; last year 318,100. Direct 66,500; last week 87,900; last year 50,700. Video/Internet 8,100; last week 46,400; last year 43,400. Auctions 222,100; last week 290,000; last year 224,600. This weeks reporting auction volume included 44 percent over 600 lbs and 47 percent heifers.

Compared to last week feeder cattle sold unevenly steady according to USDA Livestock and Grain Market News. Receipts covered by this report down 25 percent from last week. This is the usual seasonal trend, grass cattle firmer and feedlot cattle weaker.

The Direct Feedlot trade on slaughter steers and heifers was 1.00-2.00 lower this week, mostly 78.00 live down South and 124.00-125.00 in the beef up North. Very good plus packer margins as boxed beef cutouts on Choice 133.00-135.00. Packers made big purchases and bought anything they could find anywhere near Choice. Well finished cattle in short supply. Feedlots are picking cattle a little green as prices are working lower and May futures down to 74.35. Average slaughter weights dropped 65 lbs since the first of the year. There is a 15.00 spread between Choice and Select carcasses. Lighter weights reduced the total tonnage of beef per unit slaughter. Year to date beef production down 2 percent with head count kill down 1.8 percent. The disparity growing more pronounced in recent weeks. Cattle placements in feedlots for March up 5 percent from a year ago but this should be viewed in light of a 5 year average.

Strong demand for calves as more acreages of greener grass spreading further north with warmer weather and rains. Moisture still very critical in many places but drought conditions not nearly as severe or as wide spread as a year ago. Two good wet years needed many places to get ground water levels, ponds, lakes, irrigation reservoir levels back up to normal. Pasture, hay and row crop prospects much improved from a year ago. Acres seeded to corn expected to be larger this year. With Mother Natures blessings cost of weight gains could drop below .50 a lb from the current .55 on some lots. Replacement stock may begin to flow back into the dried out grasslands of a year ago. This would encompass a huge area of the west and particularly Central and Northwest. More pairs in this cow country are selling above 900.00 per family and a few young outstanding Mothers with offspring up to 1050.00 in the Dakotas.

Red Meat Production In State Up 10 Percent

Harrisburg, Pa.
Report Supplied By USDA/NASS

HARRISBURG (Dauphin co.) — Commercial red meat production, dressed weight basis, in Pennsylvania during March 2003 totaled 105.4 million pounds, up 10 percent from March 2002, according to the Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service (PASS).

Beef production, at 112.0 million pounds live weight, was up 14 percent from March 2002. Total head slaughtered was 87,600, up 14 percent. Live weight averaged 1,278 pounds, unchanged from last year. Veal production was 5.7 million pounds live weight, up 19 percent from last year.

Calf slaughter of 15,400 head was up 16 percent from last year. Average live weight increased 5 pounds to 369 pounds.

Pork production was 56.5 million pounds live weight, up 9 percent from last year. Total head slaughtered was 225,900, up 9 percent from March 2002. Average live weight is unchanged from last year.

Lamb and mutton production during March 2003 was 644,000 pounds live weight, down 4 percent. The number slaughtered was 5,900, down 11 percent. Average live weight increased 7 pounds to 109 pounds.

Mid-Atlantic Names CEO

PHILADELPHIA — Patricia S. Purcell has been appointed CEO of Mid-Atlantic Dairy Association.

Purcell, a 14-year veteran of the dairy promotion industry, most recently served as director of advertising and retail promotions for Mid-Atlantic Dairy Association. She replaces Bret H. Rigby, who served as CEO for about five years before resigning recently to pursue other interests.

As CEO, Purcell will oversee the local implementation of national advertising, communications, health professional, nutrition education, school marketing and industry relations programs. She will serve as the liaison between Mid-Atlantic Dairy Association and Dairy Management Inc., which manages the national dairy checkoff program.

Purcell joined the Middle Atlantic Milk Marketing Association (MAMMA) as communications director in 1989. She served as interim general manager from 1996 to 1998 until MAMMA merged with the Philadelphia and Washington, D.C., Dairy Councils to form Mid-Atlantic Dairy Association.

Purcell grew up on a small

dairy farm in southern Chester County. She was graduated in 1986 with a bachelor's degree in English from the University of Delaware, where she minored in journalism with a specialty in agricultural journalism. She also completed courses in advertising and marketing at the University of Maryland. Following graduation, she served as dairy writer with Lancaster Farming newspaper.

March Pig Crop 3 Percent Below Year Ago Number

Washington, D. C.
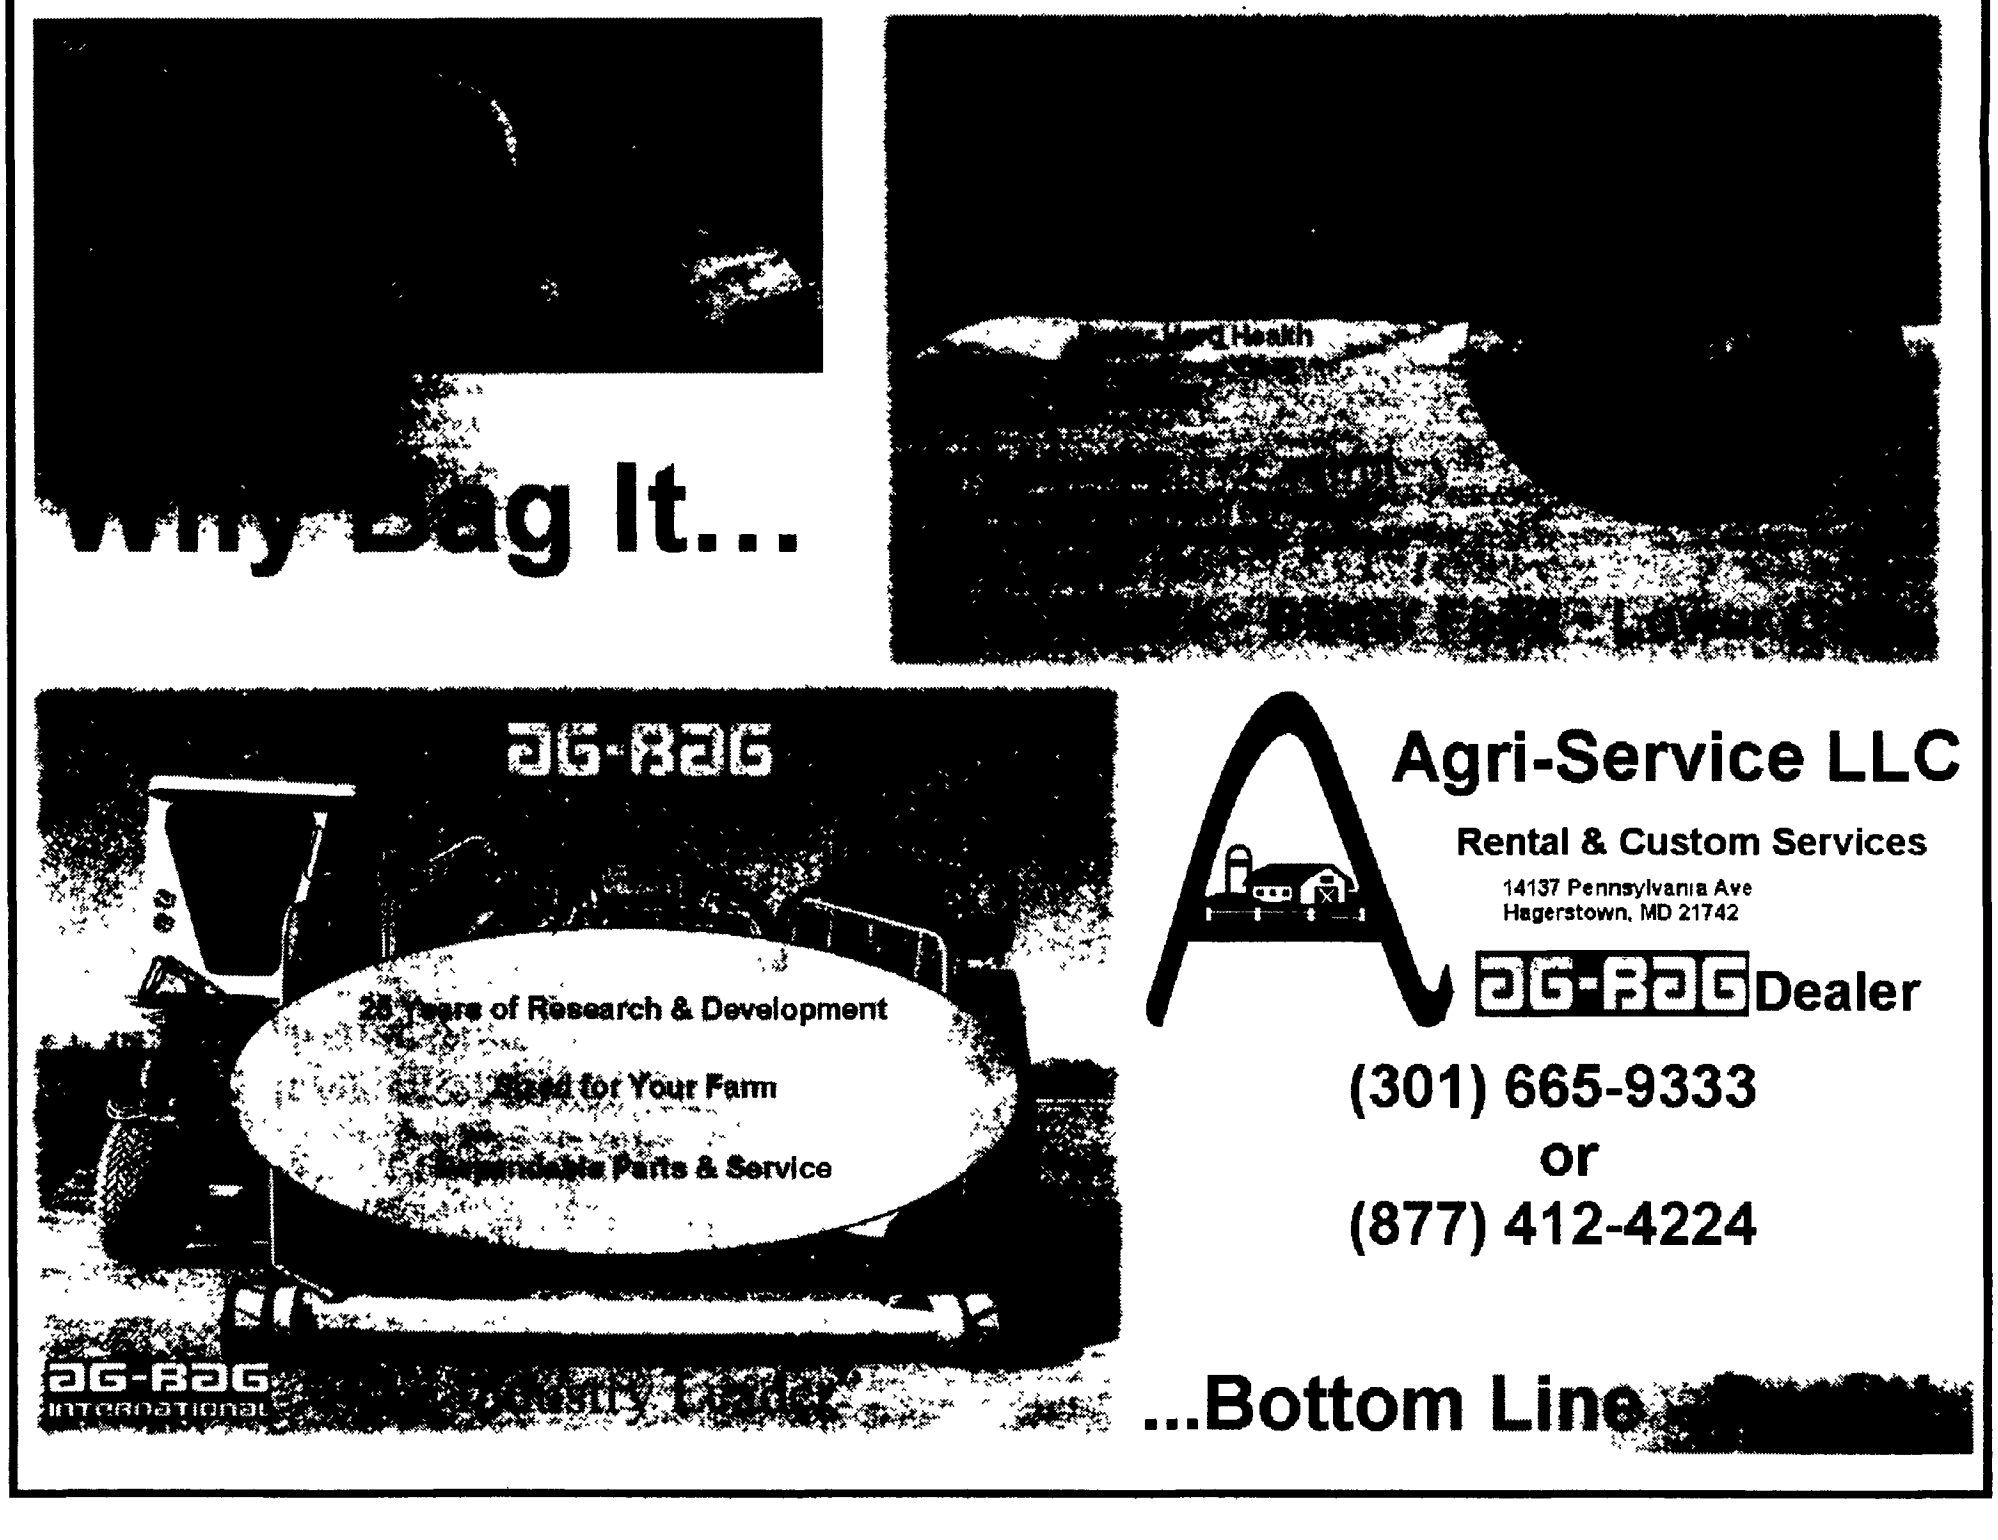
Report Supplied By USDA/NASS

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The March 2003 U.S. pig crop at 8.32 million head, was 3 percent below the previous year, according to the National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS).

Sows farrowing during this period totaled 940 thousand head, 4 percent below last year. The average pigs per litter for March increased to 8.85, compared to 8.80 last year.

The U.S. inventory of sows and gilts on April 1, 2003, was 5.80 million head, down 3 percent from April 1, 2002.

U.S. sows and gilts bred during March totaled 1.15 million head, down 3 percent from the previous year.



Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
April 30, 2003
Report Supplied By USDA

Grain and soybean bids were mixed, today. Wheat bids were slightly higher from continued strength in bean pits and Tuesday's export sale to South Korea. Corn traded mixed, profit taking and technical buying on the Board offered some support. However, good planting progress continued to limit gains. Soybean bids showed strength for the third consecutive day. Slight advances are thought to have stemmed from a better than expected Census crush number for March and spillover strength from Tuesday's sharp climb. South Korea purchased additional soybeans overnight which also lent support. Wheat mostly 2 cents higher except Portland 5 cents lower. Corn mixed, 1 cent higher to 2 cents lower. Sorghum 1 cent lower. Soybeans 1 to 4 cents higher.

Slaughter Cattle Weekly Review

Oklahoma City, Okla.
Report Supplied By USDA

NATIONAL SLAUGHTER CATTLE SUMMARY — NATIONAL SLAUGHTER CATTLE SUMMARY - Week Ending April 25, 2003: Slaughter cattle traded 1.00-2.00 lower live basis, 2.00 lower dressed. Cattle feeders accepted lower money in the continuing effort to market aggressively as the 3.00 discount for the May CME contract will be in play during the next trade session. Packer margins are improved from the tight squeeze of 3 weeks ago. The 5 percent increase in placements during March still left total feedlot numbers a million behind last year. The overall slaughter cattle supply picture is much improved from last year due to less numbers, much lower weights, and aggressive marketing due to discounted front CME months. Cattle weights have the potential to increase over normal in the 3rd quarter but the numbers and possibly the CME discounts should remain positive factors. Boxed beef prices closed Thursday at an average of 126.94 down 1.78 from last week. Sales of slaughter cattle on a national basis for negotiated cash trades totaled 176,300 through 2:00 p.m. Thursday. Last week's full count for Easter week was light at 136,400.

THESE FARMS SHARE COW COMFORT IDEAS

Beth Grove, Extension Agent — Dairy/Environment Lancaster County
Galen Kopp, Extension Agent — Dairy/Livestock Lebanon County

Comfortable cows give more milk more profitably. This old saying rings true, perhaps even more in today's challenging dairy economy. Research has shown that improving cow comfort results in an increased dry matter intake and increased production as well as better cow health.

We know, for example, that cows need approximately 300 to 500 pounds of blood to flow through the udder for each pound of milk produced. In one lactating cow study, cows that were observed lying down in stalls had more blood flow through the udder than cows standing up (10 quarts/minute vs. 8.2 quarts per minute). The increase in blood flow results in an increase in nutrients delivered to the udder, which should result in higher milk production.

So what goes into creating a more comfortable cow? We all know of farmers who seem to get top performance from cattle, some in older barns and less-than-ideal environments. Many factors are a part of cow comfort, including comfortable stalls and housing, good footing, high air quality, comfortable temperatures, and easily accessible feed and water.

We decided to ask a few area dairy farmers to share some ideas and secrets for creating a comfortable cow environment. Each of these herds is known for their "cow skills" and have been able to achieve good production with healthy cows.

This will be a two-part article that we have titled "Focus on Dairy Forum." Two questions will be addressed this week by the forum participants. Two more questions will be discussed next week. So let's start off by meeting our cooperating dairy farmers.

Meadow Vista Farm is owned by Don and Gerald Risser and their families. They milk 260 cows, farming just under 500 acres in the rolling hills near Bainbridge. The cows are housed in two freestall barns, both tunnel ventilated. The newer barn, built in 2000, also contains a bedded pack for transition cows and box stalls for freshening pens.

Elvin Reiff and his family milk 60 cows in a tiestall barn at Chiques-View Farm just outside of Mount Joy. They farm 220 acres, raising corn, barley, soybeans, and hay for feeding the dairy herd, also raising additional hay for sale each year. They have a purebred herd and sell a few bulls and heifers for breeding purposes annually.

In Lebanon County, Vince and Julie Wagner milk 45 cows in a tiestall barn outside of Myerstown. According to Extension Agent Galen Kopp, Ju-Vindale Holsteins has had one of the lowest somatic cell counts in Lebanon County for the past 10 years, usually about 80,000 or better.

Beth Grove

Galen Kopp

Kopp notes the herd has tremendous foot health without the puffy hocks sometimes associated with stall barns.

Down in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia, Lee Simmons operates Big Rock Dairy, a 250-acre farm in northern Augusta County, which has been in his family for five generations. There are 80 cows on the farm, housed in a naturally ventilated 50 by 200 bedded pack barn. He combines this barn with a "Dairy Rotational Loafing Lot System" which consists of three paddocks that can be rotated for cow exercise and cleanliness.

Define Cow Comfort

How do you measure it on your operation?

Gerald Risser: I prefer to see our cows at the feed bunk eating or laying in the stalls — this shows me they are comfortable. I do not like to see the cows standing for long periods of time when not eating, particularly in the freestalls.

Elvin Reiff: In our herd, we like to see the cows lie down soon after milking. After installing mattresses in our barn, we have seen the herd appear more comfortable and lie down more quickly.

Vince Wagner: I like to see cows that are comfortable and chewing their cud.

Lee Simmons: I like to see a cow laying down and chewing her cud. These cows seem more productive and healthier.

What tools do you use to create a comfortable cow environment? What has had the most positive impact on cow comfort on your farm?

Risser: We built our first freestall barn in 1973, and added the new barn in 2000. At that point, we decided that tunnel ventilation was the way to go for our facilities. Before we tunnel ventilated the old freestall barn, there were "dead air" spots and the cows would lie in the alleys to stay in the cooler parts of the barn. The tunnel ventilation allows for clean air exchange and works very well during transition times when the seasons are changing. The new barn is definitely one of the coolest places on the farm in the summer! We made changes to the freestalls in the older barn over the years, adding rubber filled mattresses and brisket boards. We could see a real change in herd health, especially foot health, after renovating the old stalls. We rake our freestalls 3 times daily (as cows are moved to be milked), and we bed the stalls once weekly with kiln dried shavings. Two years ago we installed "Animats" in our holding pen and milking parlor, which has worked well for us.

Reiff: The mattresses and tunnel ventilation have made the greatest difference in the comfort of the cows on our farm. Since adding the tunnel ventilation, the cows are much less stressed in the summer heat, and we have better fly control. We also have a shade cloth to cover the windows on the western side of the barn, which keeps the sun out of the barn on hot summer days. At present we bed the mattresses with shavings on a daily basis, but I am experimenting with sand in a few stalls. We placed a 3-inch PVC pipe at the rear of the stall to help retain the sand, and it appears to be working well so far. The sand should keep cows cleaner, does not support bacteria, and is not as dusty to work with. In the sand bedded stalls, I have bedded only once weekly, and my hope is that it may be less expensive in the long run, using less total bedding. Although not necessarily a component of cow comfort, we added fluorescent "long-day" lighting to our barn in 1998. We have one 8 foot light for every 2.5 cows that stays on from 5 a.m. until 10 p.m. We feel this has made a difference in production.

Wagner: I have a saying that I need three things to dairy on this farm: the cow mattresses, tunnel ventilation, and our TMR. I look at it this way: cow comfort is important to maintaining production and herd health with little mastitis. You will pay for milk quality one way or another; you can pay up front to prevent problems by keeping the cows comfortable and dry, or you can pay for drugs and dumped milk after the fact. We like the tunnel ventilation, it has made the cows much cooler and more productive in the summer. Our stalls vary in length, with the stalls in one side of the barn ranging from 2-4 inches shorter than the other half. In this way, we can more accurately fit the cow to the stall she needs. We use the smaller stalls for first calf heifers and small cows in the herd. We use cow mattresses with kiln dried shavings for bedding. I use more bedding than many farmers, but I believe it pays! I usually add 2 shovels of bedding to most stalls on a daily basis.

Simmons: In the summer of 1999, we installed a "Dairy Loafing Lot Management System" at the dairy. Before these paddocks were built, the cow herd had to travel through a good deal of mud and dirt to get to the pasture. With the lot system, the cows have clean, dry, and travel lanes and the lots can be easily managed to keep a good grass sod. Our somatic cell counts have decreased since installing the lots, and we consistently stay under 150-200,000 SCC.

In 2000, we built a bedded pack barn for our milking herd, and the cows love it! The barn has 12-foot eaves combined with a 4-foot retaining wall to hold bedding. If I were going to do anything differently in the future, I would probably go with a 3-foot sidewall to allow for more airflow. To maintain the pack, we harrow it twice daily and use fans to help dry out the bedding. The amount of bedding used varies greatly with the season and weather, but we add shavings an average of once weekly. The barn is then cleaned out completely once or twice a year. We have seen a great deal of improvement in foot health and cow comfort as compared to our old freestall barn. One downside to the bedded pack barn is finding bedding! These barns have become more and more popular in our area, and kiln dried sawdust is particularly hard to come by in the winter months. We have tried other bedding materials, but the kiln dried sawdust/shavings work the best in these barns — they absorb more moisture.

LOL Reports First Quarter Results

ARDEN HILLS. Minn. — Land O' Lakes reported sales of $1.45 billion and a net loss of $400,000 for the first quarter of 2003, compared to sales of $1.52 billion and a net loss of $1.0 million for the first quarter of 2002. Earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, amortization, and other items was $40.7 million, compared to $43.9 million for the first quarter of 2002.

The company attributed the decline in sales and the net loss to the shift in traditional Easter holiday dairy foods volume and margins from the first quarter to the second; slumping commodity markets; the impact of economic conditions on consumer and agricultural-producer purchasing trends; the ongoing dairy processing capacity/milk supply imbalance in the Upper Midwest; and costs related to the startup and completion of Cheese and Protein International (CPI).

Financial results for the quarter in each of Land O' Lakes divisions are as follows:

• Dairy Foods reported a pretax loss of $19.6 million. compared to a $3.8 million loss in the first quarter of 2002. Officials noted that first quarter volumes and earning were affected by the timing of the Easter holiday, lower commodity prices compared to the first quarter of 2002, and costs related to restructuring of Upper Midwest dairy manufacturing assets and the startup of CPI.

• Feed reported $15.1 million in pretax earnings, compared to $3.5 million for the first quarter of 2002. The increase was attributed to $8.9 million in litigation settlement proceeds, the continuing benefits of the late-2001 acquisition of Purina Mills, internal cost-reduction efforts, and strength in branded lifestyle feeds and milk replacers.

Livestock/commodity feed volumes were down 12 percent compared to the first quarter of 2002. This occurred in part because of depressed dairy and swine markets resulting in herd liquidations and reductions.

• Swine reported a pretax loss of $4.1 million, compared to a loss of $521,000 for the first quarter of 2002. Swine markets remained depressed, with prices down 8.5 percent from those of a year earlier.

During the quarter, activity in this division included Land O' Lakes selling its interest in Harmony Farms, a Pennsylvania swine joint venture.

• Layer/Eggs reported $906,000 in pretax earnings compared to a $1.5 million loss in layers/eggs in the first quarter of 2002. The company participates in this industry through a joint venture with MoArk.

• Seed earnings were $10.6 million compared to $11.1 million for the first quarter of 2002.

• Agronomy reported a pretax loss of $8.8 million. compared to a $15.4 million loss in the first quarter of 2002. Officials noted that first quarter losses are common in this division, as the primary selling season doesn't begin until spring. The company participates in the agronomy enterprise through a 50 percent joint venture with Agriliance.

Land O' Lakes officials reported that the quarter saw the company make progress in the areas of portfolio management, paying down debt, and growing its branded businesses.

Preservation Specialist Joins Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Lancaster Farmland Trust has hired Kristin Raab as its new preservation specialist.

The position, funded by a two-year grant from the Philadelphia-based William Penn Foundation, was mainly designed to carry out the important annual monitoring of farms preserved by the Trust. Farms are monitored to ensure that they are in compliance with easement regulations. Additionally, Kristin will be assisting with fundraising projects.

"We are very pleased both by the fact that we were awarded the grant and that we were able to hire someone with Kristin's skills and experience," said Ted Bowers, board of trustees chair. "She has already proven herself efficient and friendly, and having her monitor the farms allows our director of land preservation, Jeff Swinehart, more time to visit farmers who have not yet preserved."

After earning her bachelor of arts degree from Cedar Crest College in Allentown, Kristin spent four years working for the Huguenot Historical Society in New Paltz, N.Y., first as a library assistant, and then as a development officer, where she was responsible for a variety of fundraising activities.

Kristin Raab

In Kristin's spare time, she enjoys gardening, hiking, visiting the Adirondacks, visiting museums, and going to the theatre.

Kristin and her husband Christopher reside in Manheim.

Event Highlights Goals

which had become an issue recently, she said.

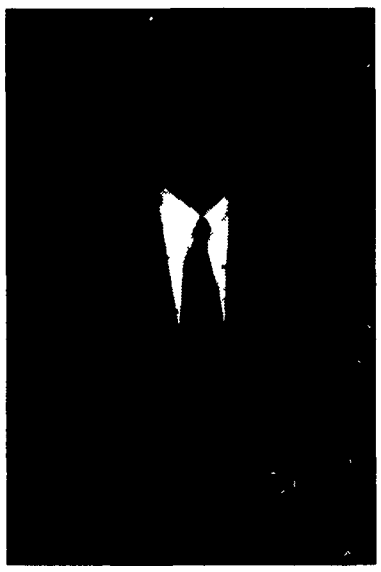
Leroy Watson, national Grange legislative affairs director, summarized a few actions from the office in Washington, D.C. "We're working not only with legislators but with getting people to get involved" in Grange activities, said Watson.

In 2002, the national Grange facilitated 118 meetings in Washington, D.C. between legislators and Grange members.

Also last year the organization signed joint letters or testimonies with 416 other organizations, he said.

Other Grange accomplishments include putting milk protein concentrates (MPCs) under tariff and working to get drought and disaster assistance for rural producers.

Goals include returning prosperity to agriculture, since "we need to have a prosperous agriculture in order to have a prosperous rural America," said Watson.



Dan Gard, local Monsanto representative, discussed trends in the dairy industry.

Future objectives include expanding telecommunications to get high-speed Internet access available to more rural areas. Watson also said the organization would press for reform in environmental programs to help protect property rights.

Another goal is to achieve energy security for rural America, improve the quality of rural education, and work for enhanced homeland security and public safety in rural areas. The Grange also hopes to get legislation introduced to improve the quality and quantity of health care in rural America.

Watson concluded by welcoming ideas for campaigns to work on from Pennsylvania Grange members.

Dennis Wolff, agriculture secretary designee, discussed the two centerpieces of the Rendell administration — economic development and education.

For rural residents, this means more finances directed toward math and science departments and more skilled teachers, along with laboratories in rural areas, according to Wolff.

He also spoke about agriculture education, and the need to "look at how its being presented to students," he said.

Education also extends to public officials as evidenced in the recent tour hosted by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture (PDA) to teach township supervisors about production agriculture.

On the economic development end, property tax reform is priority, he said.

"Farmers may only be a small percentage of Pennsylvania's population, but they own 27 percent of its landmass. Property taxes have been particularly hard on farmers."

John Hines, acting secretary of water management, Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), also agreed that "we should take a look at education."

He noted that as he read his daughter's textbook he noted how the book discussed pollution and sediments "but never looked at the economics behind it, the livelihoods.

"We have to have a balance between environmental issues and economy," he said.

Hines briefly discussed the misconstrued legislation that would have provided construction standards for wells. The rumor that individual wells would need meters was unfounded, he said.

As for nutrient and sediment reduction, several programs provide funding, and "I encourage you to get actively involved in finding ways that you can utilize those programs to remain competitive," he said.

"Pennsylvania is truly a keystone state in that every crop of water impacts 40 percent of the U.S. population" with the commonwealth's five basins, he said.

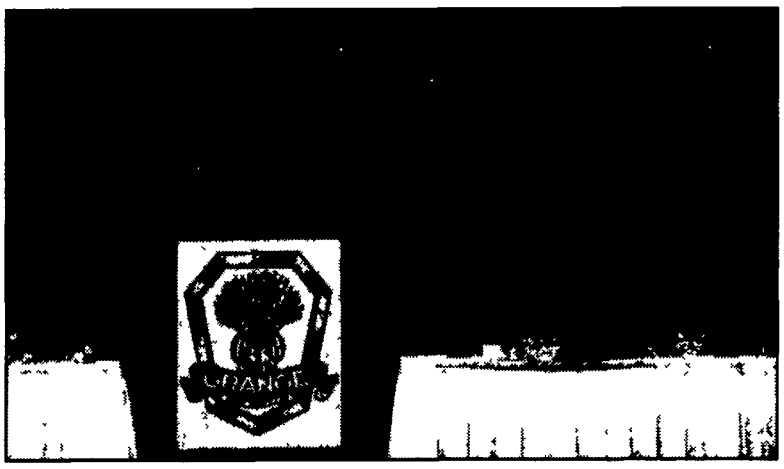
Pennsylvania is working on developing a state water plan, due in five years. To work out the plan, the commonwealth is divided into water basin areas with a 23-member regional committee to guide the plan, which will eventually form one comprehensive plan for the entire state.

Allison Topper, Pennsylvania Advocates for Nutrition and Activity (PANA), discussed nutrition and physical activity.

"We're looking at social and physical environments and communities, and way to make things second nature and a part of our lifestyle," she said. Health problems related to obesity cost $866 more per year of medical expenditures, she said, than for a patient who is not obese.

"If we continue at the pace we're at, we'll break the health care bank," she said.

PANA works with communities to, for instance, make public areas more "walkable" (safe and accessible by foot) and increase milk consumption in schools.



Dennis Wolff, secretary of agriculture designee, gave a proclamation from Governor Rendell to Betsy Huber, Pennsylvania State Grange master. The proclamation heralds April 2003 Grange Month.

Other states have programs providing local fruit and vegetables at affordable prices and "that is having a tremendous impact on consumption," she said.

Dan Gard, local Monsanto representative, presented information about Pennsylvania's dairy industry.

"Whether we like it or not, the dairy business is a global industry. It's competitive and filled with challenges and opportunities.

"The best producers aren't hunkered down in their holes, they're getting out there and doing something."

Gard predicts that "the dairy industry will continue to consolidate from top to bottom," he said.

Consolidation is a part of a typical life cycle of business and industry, according to Gard, who cited examples from the banking industry, which has also undergone consolidation "especially in the last five years," he said, "so its happening to everybody."

Gard estimates that in 5-8 years, the number of dairy producers will be down to about 50,000 in the U.S.

"The average age of the farmer is creeping up, and younger people are not stepping in," he said, attributing the trend to lack of business and lack of exit plans.

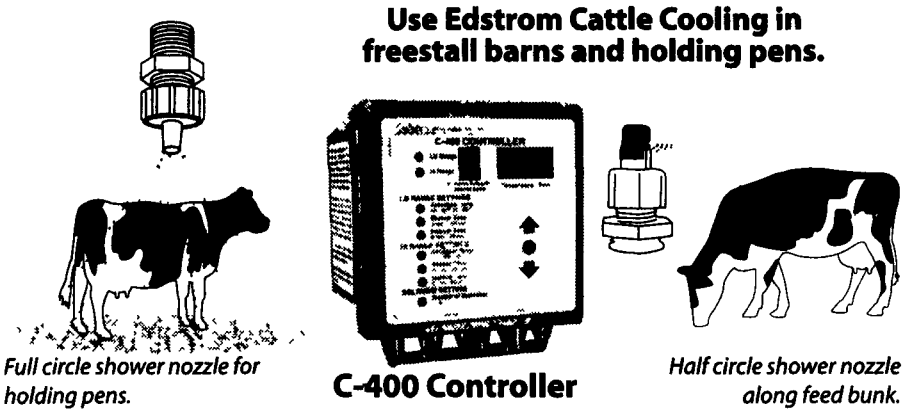
In summary, he said, "Pennsylvania will probably gain market share as the dairy industry declines in surrounding states." Also, "the Northeast and Southeast are huge potential Class I markets."

John Hines, deputy secretary designee, water management, Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), discussed several agricultural issues.

Are Your Cows Ready for A Long, Hot Summer?

An Edstrom Shower Cooling System will keep them eating more and milking more.

Use Edstrom Cattle Cooling in freestall barns and holding pens.



Full circle shower nozzle for holding pens.

C-400 Controller

Half circle shower nozzle along feed bunk.

C-400 operates up to four electric valves in sequence.
Ideal for large freestall barns.

Ideal for holding pens.

Both controllers allow you to set two different cooling programs; one to activate at a lower range of temperatures, and a second more intensive program for higher temperatures.

"I would recommend it to anybody that has a dairy barn. Don't wait until it gets hot!"

Protect the Future of Glyphosate by Adding Residual

Glyphosate is a great tool – one that has become even more important with the widespread adoption of Roundup Ready* soybeans However, the signs are all around us that glyphosate is not invincible

Roundup-resistant marestail is spreading rapidly in the Atlantic States region and in Kentucky and Tennessee University extension specialists in Missouri, Iowa and Illinois are fielding reports from growers that waterhemp and other weeds are exhibiting tolerance to Roundup

To keep your most valuable tool working for years to come, adding residual chemistries like FirstRate* and Python* WDG herbicides to your Roundup Ready weed control program is sound agronomically and economically Adding residual herbicides

- Allows you to burn down weeds while providing residual for late-emerging weeds
- Reduces weed competition for emerging soybeans and gives them a greater chance to reach their yield potential
- Helps manage risk by widening your application window
- Challenges weeds with an additional mode of action

Python WDG provides foundation control of tough broadleaves like pigweed, lambsquarters, marestail and velvetleaf, including triazine-resistant biotypes Python WDG is very effective in both no-till and conventional till as part of a burndown treatment prior to planting

As part of a preemerge or early post tank mix with Glyphomax* Plus herbicide or other glyphosates, FirstRate delivers improved control of morningglory, giant and common ragweed, larger velvetleaf, cocklebur sunflower and marestail

To learn more about improving weed control in Roundup Ready beans and keeping your best tool effective for years to come, see your local ag retailer about the residual power of Python WDG and FirstRate

Pattison Named Agri-Finance Business Banking Director

Barbara Pattison

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — First Union announced that Barbara Pattison has been named agrifinance business banking director.

With about 900 customers involving more than $500 million in loan outstandings, First Union is the leading commercial bank lending to agriculture in Pennsylvania, ranking first in the Northeast and sixth in the nation.

"We continue to have a strong commitment to agriculture," said Jan Armfield, president of First Union's northeast and central Pennsylvania region. "Barbara Pattison is the right person to successfully lead our agrifinance business banking team into the future."

Pattison is an experienced veteran of 20 years in the financial services industry. She joined the company in 1985 where she worked in credit risk review. During the ensuing years she served as a relationship manager for small business, middle market, and large corporate account portfolios. In 1995 Pattison accepted responsibility for managing the company's Central Pennsylvania Large Corporate Sales Group, and in 1998 was named a senior credit portfolio manager.

Pattison is a member of the Community Cabinet for Berks County United Way, and is a team leader for the Salvation Army and Berks Women in Crisis United Way Allocation Teams. A member of many area capital campaign committees over the years — including the recent capital campaign for the Children's Home of Reading — she is serving on the Capital Campaign Committee for area Girl Scouts. She is also a member of the Pennsylvania Economy League Berks County Advisory Committee.

Pattison is very active within First Union, promoting and coordinating employee volunteerism for events such as Berks County Special Olympics and the First Union Fill A Child With Pride back pack drive.

She is a 2002 recipient of the June A. Roedel "Legacy of Commitment" Award from the United Way of Berks County. The award recognized Pattison's outstanding service and commitment to enhancing the quality of life in Berks County through volunteer service in the areas of strategic planning, needs assessment, fund distribution, and community building.

A native of St. Johnsbury, Vt., Pattison is a graduate of McIntyre School of Commerce, University of Virginia, with a double major in finance and management. A long-time area resident, she lives on a small farm in Oley Valley.

one to create what Hoard's Dairyman has referred to as the "nine-million-cow dairy," could that save dairying?

Questions like these demand answers. We need to look to our leaders for advice — and PFB has plenty of them. I think we are wise to seek out their expertise (which is certainly what we try to do).

The old ways of agriculture are gone. We can't farm like those pictured in a Norman Rockwell painting and actually make enough to survive.

Wednesday evening this week, Farm Bureau conducted its annual fundraising banquet with its political action committee to help support state legislative candidates. The banquet was conducted at the West Shore Country Club in Camp Hill.

State Rep. Art Hershey (R-13), chair of the House Ag Committee, made some eye-opening comments to about 150 who attended the banquet. Last year, at Thanksgiving, with the failure of the legislators to pass SB 1413 to protect large-scale agriculture from illegal township ordinances, "it was the first time agriculture lost in the legislature," he said.

Those who think "grandfather's way of farming is the way to farm are in la-la land," said Hershey.

We agree.

With all these issues, could the nine-million-cow dairy be far from reality?

Weekly Daily Market Outlook

their milk in 3-, 5-, or 7-liter containers to the collection station, where it is measured and tested for freshness and solids. The volume of milk delivered is then recorded in a book. Milk that does not meet the freshness standards (an acid test) is rejected. But the only milk that is rejected is milk that is really rancid. The milk is pored through a cloth filter and is collected in waiting cans. One collection site I visited this morning did not have electricity or running water. The butterfat level for each farm is only tested three times a month.

A Moldovan dairy farmer gets paid the equivalent of just $4-$5 per CWT. That isn't much by world standards. But then again their expenses are very minimal. They don't have investment in bulk tanks, milking equipment, etc. Still, can you imagine trying to make a living with such a low price?

The milk is then picked up from the collection stations with trucks that read LAPTE, and is hauled to the main cooperative office. It is then unloaded into bulk tanks where the milk is cooled. Then, 2-4 hours later it is picked up by the cheese plant.

The milk cooperative creates a lot of employment for the villagers and cash sales for the farmers. A typical cooperative worker, like a milk collector, earns about 200 lei per month. That's the equivalent of $13.80. A veterinarian at the cooperative will earn just $20.70 per month. A dairy farmer makes less than $20 a month.

The good news is that business activity in this small former Soviet country is starting to pick up. But, there are so few people here that understand how to run a business. That's where the volunteers from the U.S. come in. I'm working through CNFA, the Citizen's Network for Foreign Affairs. I am officially just the third American to visit the Moldovan village of Cuconestii.

I'll be heading back to the U.S. next week. I can't wait to see an American-style bathroom! I don't want to get into the details, but there is no running water in any of the houses. Use your imagination!

I did promise some Pennsylvania dairy farmers that I would milk a Moldovan cow by hand. That I did. The milking lady washed the udder and started the milking process. Turns out the cow was not used to me, so the milk letdown took awhile. After milking just one cow, I was exhausted.

Bison Exhibitors Gather

191 Livestock Company consigned the reserve champion female.

Conference Events

The conference actually started on Thursday, March 13 with the check-in of bison for the sale and registration of attendees.

Also on Thursday a welcome reception allowed members to gather for light fare and an opportunity to network with members throughout the eastern states.

Friday began with the association's annual business meeting and election of officers for the upcoming year. Guest speakers followed the business meeting.

Dave Carter, executive director of the National Bison Association in Denver, spoke about the upcoming Bison Stampede in the East, which is campaign to promote the great taste and health benefits of bison meat.

That campaign will begin this summer in Nashville, Tenn. He also gave an overview of where the industry might be headed in 2003.

Additionally, Hank Stecker from the Hansteck Corporation, spoke about tanning trophy bison hides and marketing and packaging hides for profit.

John Berry, Penn State agricultural marketing educator, discussed marketing a product from the consumer's perspective.

Later a member panel discussed "farm gate marketing" — marketing directly off the farm by the producer.

The final event for the day was the awards banquet and Fun Auction.

On Saturday, the auction of animals concluded the conference.

Organization History

According to Website information at www.ebabison.org, in February 1996, 10 members of the National Bison Association met in Harrisburg to discuss starting an Eastern Bison Association to provide seminars, farm tours, and a regional show and sale.

All meetings of members of the national organization are conducted within the geographic boundaries of the association. Region one consists of Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, Rhode Island, and Vermont. Region two includes Delaware, District of Columbia, Maryland, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia.

In addition to annual conferences, show and sale, and research activities, the Eastern Bison Association is also involved in numerous promotional and marketing endeavors, such as hosting a booth at such shows as the New York Restaurant and Foodservice Show.

The Pennsylvania Bison Association Inc. (PBA) was formed in 1991 by a group of bison ranchers in Pennsylvania who acknowledged the need for an organization within Pennsylvania and the surrounding states to address regional concerns regarding the production and promotion of the American Bison.

The PBA currently has members in eight states.

The Animals

Bison, commonly referred to as the American Plains Buffalo, once roamed the entire North American continent at numbers estimated at more than 60 million. According to Website information, bison, were an integral part of the ecosystem for centuries. They thrived on wild and drought-resistant western grasses, native shrubs, flowers, and other plants.

Bison generally produce one 40-50 pound calf at a rate of one per year, with cows reproducing well into their 20s. A mature cow will, on average, weigh 1,000-1,200 pounds. A mature bull will average 1,500-2,000 pounds. One bull can service 10-15 cows.

Bison with plenty of good pasture and water are generally content and will stay put. The suggested stocking rate is generally the same as cattle in a particular area.

The grand champion bull, a 2-year-old, weighs in at 1,430 pounds. He is owned by Bobby Collins, Colvine Bison Farm, Greenwood, Del.

The grand champion female, a mature, bred cow weighing 1,360 pounds, is owned by Tupper Sverduk, 191 Livestock Company, Lake Ariel.

Public Invited To See Farm Stream Cleaned Using BMPs

PENNSBURG (Montgomery Co.) — The Schertel family in Lehigh County has taken action to clean up a stream that flows through their farm using the Best Management Practices (BMPs).

Wednesday, May 7 from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. neighboring farmers and other interested people are invited to visit their farm and see first hand the changes made in their operation. The 100-acre farm is situated among the rolling hills of Lynn Township, Lehigh County. They raise beef cattle, hogs, corn, small grain, and hay.

Several organizations and government agencies worked with Mark and Marie Schertel and their son, George to install Best Management Practices that will protect the headwater stream and improve their livestock operation. The partnership team included Ducks Unlimited (DU), Southeastern Pennsylvania Resource Conservation and Development Council (SEPA RC&D), Lehigh County Conservation District, Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) and Retired & Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP).

The Best Management Practices (BMPs) installed include streambank fencing, livestock stream crossings, concrete manure stacking pad, barnyard roofing, rain gutters and downspouts, and a livestock drinking water system.

Because of the BMPs, almost a half-mile of the stream is now protected. The cattle will have continual access to clean water and the Schertels can safely store manure for over 90 days. Also any rain or snow that falls on the almost 4,000 foot barnyard area is deposited cleanly into the stream. To support the visual improvements, water samples collected and tested show a dramatic improvement in the water quality.

Besides the Schertels and their animals, many others will benefit from their efforts. This stream feeds the Ontelaunee Creek that is used by hundreds of people for fishing and other recreational enjoyment. Also the citizens of Reading use Lake Ontelaunee for drinking water.

Penn's Swine Center Researches Sow Housing Alternatives

KENNETT SQUARE (Chester Co.) — The future of gestating sow housing here in Pennsylvania and across the country is in question. The gestation crate, the most common type of sow housing world-wide, was recently banned by the European Union. Increased consumer concern about how animals are raised is also having an impact in the U.S.

In response to animal welfare advocacy groups, the National Council of Chain Restaurants is developing guidelines for their suppliers on how animals are to be reared. While the status of gestation crates in these guidelines is under debate, their future in Florida is clear.

Last November constitutional protection was afforded pregnant sows as voters passed into law a referendum item banning gestation crates. This law that goes into effect in 2008 promises minimal impact there as only two farms in Florida use gestation crates. Of the more than one million dollars raised by a political action committee named Floridians for Humane Farms to fund this referendum, only 8% of the money actually came from Floridians.

Given the uncertainty of sow housing, several animal-friendly technologies imported from Europe are under scrutiny in a research setting to determine if they're applicable to U.S. production systems. The University of Pennsylvania's School of Veterinary Medicine's new Swine Center is gathering data on loose housing with computerized feeding for sows, swing-side gestation stalls, and farrowing crates that readily convert into farrowing pens.

Veterinarian Dr. Tom Parsons, director of the center, hopes the data will be useful in the growing concerns about animal welfare. "The animal welfare emphasis is on gestation housing and crates," said Parsons, "and that is where much of our research is focused. Pennsylvania has the largest agricultural industry located in closest proximity to the metropolitan population centers of the East Coast. I've always felt societal issues such as animal welfare have the potential to impact here first."

The Swine Center is at New Bolton Center, the Veterinary School's teaching and research facility in Kennett Square, PA. The new building was designed to accommodate the animal friendly technologies imported from Austria. Dr. Parsons, who spent time in Germany and observed swine raising practices there, is prototyping the equipment at the center to see what will work here.

The centerpiece is a computerized feeding system for group housed-sows. Definitely the most unique part of the 100-sow facility, the computerized feeding station separates the loose housing area from a row of gestation crates. "The reason the industry went to individual sow housing or crates was to provide individual animal nutrition," said Parsons, "something that is next to impossible to control in group-housed sows due to social hierarchy. This equipment maintains individual animal feeding in group housing, but reduces the time sows spend in crates by 75%."

Each sow is identified by a small, round microchip implanted in her ear tag. A sow enters the feeding station through the rear gate, is recognized by the computer, and begins to receive her daily allotment in a stainless steel bowl. When the sow is finished, the bowl retracts and she exits through a pair of front swing gates. The rear gate locks once a sow enters so she can eat without interruption, but unlocks when the feeder bowl retracts. If she's too slow to leave the feeder, a hungry sow behind her provides incentive to leave.

Everything is computer controlled. The computer tracks how much sows weigh, how much they eat and when they eat. If the staff needs a particular sow sorted out from the large group, the computer can be programmed to automatically divert that sow upon exit to a special selection pen. Even time spent socializing with a boar is recorded by computer. "It's an automated estrous detector," said Parsons. "Sows in heat will seek out nose-to-nose contact with the boar. The detector takes some of the pressure off management to identify these animals. We can even program the computer to spray paint a dot of color on a sow that has visited the boar a preset number of times in a day."

The sows learn quickly to use the computerized feeder and they don't forget, said Parsons. "As they come out of the crates into group housing, they make a beeline for the feeder."

While individual animal nutrition is achieved in this system, the social structure of group housing remains. Sleeping areas are raised concrete decks with solid pen dividers, and the same animals tend to rest together in the same area. "If the wrong animal tries to intrude on a social clique, there's a big ruckus. The Europeans suggest the solid partitions may help conflict resolution between aggressive animals as they don't have to continually look at each other," he said.

Straw bedding is not an option with liquid manure systems popular in the States, but Parsons would argue that sows are quite comfortable in this loose housing arrangement. "There's no evidence of pressure sores, the concrete decks are dry and remain dung free."

Turnaround Crates

After weaning, bred sows spend about five or six weeks in gestation crates before moving into group housing. "Early embryonic death can occur during the first 21-28 days after breeding if sows are moving around too much prior to implantation of the embryos in the uterus," said Parsons. "Thus, we like to keep them in crates during this time. Something I try to emphasize is competing welfare agendas. In this situation, sows are restricted for a short time from interacting with each other or walking around as we are putting embryo welfare above the welfare of sows the same as with the piglet and farrowing crates."

The facility also features an unconventional gestation crate, made in the United States, whose hinged dividers swing through an arch limited by a chain. The "swing-sided" crates take up the same amount of space, but allow the sows the freedom to turn-around and face in the opposite direction. "It's a clever idea, when the dividers swing out, it temporarily takes up space from the two adjoining crates to allow the animal to turn around. "A drawback to the crates is there is not always enough space for the animal to maintain hygienic habits. If sows turn around, it's impossible to prevent some from defecating in the feed trough. Again, competing welfare agendas," said Parsons. He plans to test the swing crates with behavioral studies.

Sow feeder at the New Bolton Center Swine facility. The entry gate is to the lower left of the picture and the white funnel-like piece of equipment supplies the rations into a retractable bowl.

"We see these crates as an intermediate step," Parsons said. "Our goal is to reduce time spent by a sow in crates, without dramatically changing the basic animal flow or management plan of the barn. We're trying to optimize these technologies in a practical way."

European Style Crates

The European-style farrowing crates are mounted on the wall of the stalls at a 45-degree angle and can open up to let the sow out. This design precludes the need for walkways both in front and back of the crate as in conventional farrowing rooms, and allows more square footage of the room to be used to house animals. Ten to fourteen days after farrowing, crates are opened up to create a creep area for the piglets and allow the sow more freedom of movement.

Whether this farrowing design is viable here in the states remains to be seen as the crates cost about twice as much as standard crates. "However," Parson said, we do think the sows do as well or better when the crates are opened up. Feed intake goes up." So far their experiences show some sows exhibit stronger maternal instincts and are more attuned to their piglets in the open-crate system.

Parsons is planning to work with a genetics company to identify and select for sows that will excel in these new, animal friendly housing systems.

Schauer Maschinenfabrik, of Prambachkirchen, Austria, the manufacturer of the computerized sow feeder, has been working to perfect their design for almost 20 years now, said Parsons. They are Europe's largest manufacturers of computerized sow feeders with much of their market in Germany and Denmark.

"It is still too early to know how well these technologies can be adopted by the U.S. swine industry as we are still defining its benefits and risks," said Parsons. He is cautiously optimistic about the future as the facility at Penn has been in full-scale use for more than a year, but not enough data has been collected to be more definitive. "The rate of pregnancy failure to expect from group housing or its effect on litter size are still being determined. We don't have enough numbers yet, but at this point, there appears to be nothing out of ordinary and in general these technologies continue to exceed our expectations. The automated estrous detection system works well to pick up late returns in gestation an area where people are typically not that diligent. The system is also useful in gilt development as we can track how gilts are cycling and better plan their entry into the breeding schedule."

In addition to these new technologies under study, the biosecure center is introducing veterinary students to the practical aspects of swine production, points out Parsons. "Even companion animal vets are potential advocates of modern swine production practices if given the appropriate introduction and experiences."

Parsons said welfare issues are a challenge the industry will inevitably be facing sooner than later. "When designing the facility, we anticipated these concerns becoming a significant issue to the industry on a five to ten year time horizon. However, recent events such as the fast food retailers welfare initiatives and the outlawing of conventional gestation crates in Florida suggest that consumer concern about animal welfare is here and now. Instead we are finding ourselves positioned today to provide the Pennsylvania industry with information about these animal-friendly technologies."

Youth Conservation School To Take Place In July

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)—The Lancaster County Conservation District along with local sportsmen's clubs offers a weeklong summer adventure for teen's ages 14-16 interested in outdoor activities.

The Lancaster County Youth Conservation School is a resident school program which will be conducted at the Northern Lancaster County Fish and Game Protection Association in West Cocalico Township, July 20-26.

The school held in a camp like setting provides an opportunity to have fun while learning how to conserve our natural resources. There are many study topics to interest 35 students. Topics include forestry, canoeing, wildlife management, archery, survival, and firearm safety. Teens will have the opportunity to meet professionals in various environmental related fields and discuss career options with them.

Students benefit from generous county federated sportmens clubs and community organizations who provide 90% of the UCS tuition. To receive an application, contact Sallie Gregory at (717) 299-5361 x. 117 by June 1.

Fair, Auctioneer Guides Scheduled For Publication

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Lancaster Farming announces two brand-new booklet-sized publications scheduled to be published soon.

The first will be the 2003 Lancaster Farming Fair Guide, scheduled to premier May 24. Thousands of our readers count on Lancaster Farming to provide them with the latest fair news during the summer and fall season. You can look toward the fairs with this extensive directory, covering an eight-state region. Planned is a list of fairs and fair association news. Will photos of your family turn up in the book from fairs around the region? Check it out!

Following that will be the premier issue of the 2003 Lancaster Farming Auction Directory. Scheduled will be auctioneer listings, frequently asked questions and answers regarding auctions, and feature articles and photos.

Contact the advertising office here at Lancaster Farming, (717) 721-4415, for information about both publications.

Tractors built since the mid '50's could be a good all-purpose utility tractor. Older tractors can still perform a lot of hard work — however that would likely be limited to pulling something hooked to the drawbar and using the power takeoff (PTO) to power a piece of equipment such as a mower. Newer tractors have more advanced systems, so consider the type of work you plan to do and the attachments that you would like to use and then look for a tractor that will meet those needs.

Things to look for include live PTO, live hydraulics, a standard three-point hitch, one or more hydraulic outlets, and power steering if you plan to use a tractor with a front-end loader. "Live PTO and hydraulics" means the power takeoff shaft or the hydraulics are not affected by the transmission clutch. That means you can start and stop the PTO or raise and lower the hydraulics regardless if the clutch is in or not. A standard three-point hitch lets you hook up to a huge variety of attachments regardless of the manufacturer. Hydraulics allows you to raise and lower implements by attaching hoses from the hydraulic cylinder mounted on the implement to the tractor.

Rollover protection system (ROPS) protects the operator in a rollover when used with a seatbelt. ROPS first became available in the '60s and became standard in 1985. Dealers have kits available from the manufacture that install on most models from the '60s to 1985.

Once you select a model to look at, it becomes an exercise in mechanics — the cosmetics should probably be placed lower on the list. It has to start easy, run well when hot, charge the electrical system, brake well, steer well, and get good traction.

This is a partial checklist for a simplistic preview of a working tractor:

- Does it start easily on a cold engine? This may eliminate several items in one shot.
- Does it run well when hot? Plan on spending a half-hour running it. After running, look for leaks, both oil and antifreeze. Lastly, after it is warm, shut it down and see how it starts.
- Do the brakes work well? The brakes themselves are inexpensive to replace — it is the extensive teardown to get the new ones in which is expensive. You can test the brakes by locking one wheel and turning to that side. The tractor should spin and the wheel should not rotate.
- Does it smoke? Blue smoke indicates the engine burning oil. White or black smoke can frequently be corrected with carburetor or ignition changes, but still represents work.
- Does it make clunking noises from inside the engine? Simple ticking from the top of the engine may be a simple valve adjustment, but a deep thunk from the bottom or middle of the engine would indicate very serious and expensive repairs. The clunk should be more pronounced under load. This may be an indication of problems with the crankshaft, bearings, or piston rods.
- How does the oil look? After you have run it for a while, stop the engine and check the oil for foaming or presence of water. This is a showstopper.
- Is there head seepage? Look for fluids seeping out the head gasket. If the tractor is encrusted with grease and dirt, it may cover up obvious signs of seepage.
- Is the clutch good? The clutch is not that expensive, but splitting the tractor in half is beyond what most folks want to do.
- Check the charging system. There should be a slight charge shown on the ammeter when the engine is running and a change in the charging level when the lights are turned on. At running speed, no discharge should be shown.
- Work the hydraulics. Check the full range of the arms by extending them with a load. Let the load sit in the hold position for a period of time to be sure that there is no leakdown. Chattering noises from the pump while lifting indicate the pump is getting insufficient flow of hydraulic fluid. The pump will have experienced excessive wear when run this way for long periods of time and may be ready to fail.
- Look for structural cracks. It takes a bit of time, but it is well spent. Go over the cast and steel components and look for hairline cracks. Again this is not expensive to correct, but extremely time consuming. It would be unwise to work a tractor until such problems are corrected.

Buying a used tractor is always a somewhat hazardous undertaking, and older tractors will tend to be less reliable than newer models. However, by observing the following recommendations, these hazards can be held to a minimum.

Buy from a reputable source. Find out all you can about its service, performance, and repair history. Don't overrate a new coat of paint. Try and see what it is covering. Look at more than one tractor and contact more than one source.

Plan ahead so you have time to shop around. Try to arrange to use the tractor for a few days on a trial basis, with the option of buying it if you are satisfied with its performance. Whatever you buy, insist on receiving a copy of the owner's manual with the tractor. Then be sure and read it! Get any promised warranty or guarantee in writing.

Know your needs, pocketbook, and what's on the market. Be as knowledgeable on the tractor as you can through research and conversation and be sure to check it out to the best of your ability. Have fun, but use common sense when shopping for your tractor.

A Dry Cow Booster That Costs 7¢ a Day

Hoffmans Horse and Cattle Powder is an ideal tonic for cows over freshening. Feed 6 wks. before freshening. 1 Tablespoon a day (Two weeks over freshening, feed 1 Tablespoon in the morning & 1 Tablespoon in evening)

Cows will clean better after freshening. Cows have a lower somatic cell count and will have less mastitus problems. Great for reproduction tract and cows will cycle better after freshening. Will help rumen function over freshening. Less feet problems and less stress

This is an over-all good booster if fed to dry cows, and it will pay you big dividends.

she said. Menhennett also plans to sell sheep skins, besides adding soft herbed cheese and soft garlic cheese as new additions to her offerings.

This year Menhennett and Cook will take more than 300 individual cheeses to the event. The bigger portions are sold in pound sizes, but there are quarter pound packages, also.

Prices for the cheese hover around $12 a pound. The cheese is also popular for customers who are lactose-intolerant, he said.

Although the demand is there, expansion is currently not an option.

"We're doing it as more a labor of love than anything else," he said. "We just do it because we like to do it. We like to have fun, so we're not going to scale up."

Recording each ewe's production helps Menhennett track which ewes she should bring back into the milking string next year.

Maryland Sheep, Wool Festival Runs This Weekend

WEST FRIENDSHIP, Md. — The Maryland Sheep and Wool Festival, now in its 30th year, will again open its doors to thousands of visitors seeking to learn more about sheep, peruse the colorful wool offerings, and taste the variety of lamb offered from food vendors.

The event, conducted Saturday and Sunday May 3-4, features sheep shearing, sheep shows, wool crafts, spinning, weaving, working sheepdog demonstrations, gourmet lamb, live music, and a variety of workshops, covering both wool crafts and the sheep industry, to teach both kids and adults.

The event is conducted at the Howard County Fairgrounds in West Friendship, Maryland.

This year, the festival plays host to the National Sheep Show for the Natural Colored Wool Growers Association.

New to the event will be the new Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation Showcase.

The Maryland Grand Lamb Cook-Off has been enhanced this year, with the addition of a Junior Cook-Off division.

In addition, the American Wool Council will also be on site to provide Rapid Fiber Diameter Testing (a useful tool for genetic improvement, sorting wool, and evaluating how diet, genetics and other factors affect wool quality).

The original goals of the festival were to educate the public, provide entertainment, and provide a resource for spinners to buy premium quality fleece for handspinning.

What started out from a small group of people has now become internationally known. Event organizers estimate that 50-60,000 people attend the festival annually.

Admission and parking for the Festival are both free. Festival hours are 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturday, and 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday.

Please leave your pets at home.

Farm Bureau Announces Contests

The farm press was invited to the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau offices last week to hear about a variety of programs. From left, Jeff and P.J. Barnes, District 5 representatives, join Secretary of Agriculture Designee Dennis Wolff and Farm Bureau President Guy Donaldson.

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — The Pennsylvania Farm Bureau's Young Farmers and Ranchers Program is an outstanding agricultural organization for young people between the ages of 18-35. Young Farmers and Ranchers (YF&R) gives individuals the opportunity to meet new friends who share similar interests, discuss problems and issues affecting agriculture and to make a difference with a vote in agriculture through YF&R, Farm Bureau, and legislative involvement.

The Young Farmers and Ranchers Program offers an excellent opportunity for you to participate in activities designed to develop leadership and communication skills, and share in family activities through various motivational, educational, and social activities. Some of these activities are listed here.

Discussion Meet Contest

The Discussion Meet is a contest involving 4-6 contestants who discuss an issue affecting agriculture. The participants responsibility is to exchange ideas and information in an effort to solve a problem. The Discussion Meet is an exercise in cooperative problem solving with questions, answers, and statements coming from any contestant at any given time.

By participating in the Discussion Meet, members build basic discussion skills, develop a keen understanding of important agriculture issues, and explore how groups can pool knowledge to reach consensus and solve problems.

Achievement Award

The American Farm Bureau Federation Achievement Award Program is designed to recognize those young farmers and ranchers that have excelled in their farming/ranching operations and honed their leadership abilities to superiority. The contestants will be evaluated on a combination of their farming operation growth and financial progress of operation, Farm Bureau leadership, as well as leadership outside of Farm Bureau.

More specifically, the judges will be looking for excellence in management, growth and scope of the enterprise and self-initiative that have been displayed throughout the operation. A contestant's participation in Farm Bureau and other organizations is a definite point getter from the judges.

Contestants must meet the following criteria to compete:

- Members in good standing with their county Farm Bureau.
- Contestants shall be voting members between the ages of 18 and 35. Individual or spouse shall not have reached their 36th birthday by January 31st after the AFBF Annual Convention at which the contest is conducted. Past and Present AFBF YF&R Committee or spouses are not eligible.
- Contestants must be actively engaged in farming or ranching with the majority of income coming from production agriculture. Applications are available and the deadline is May 1 at the PFB office.

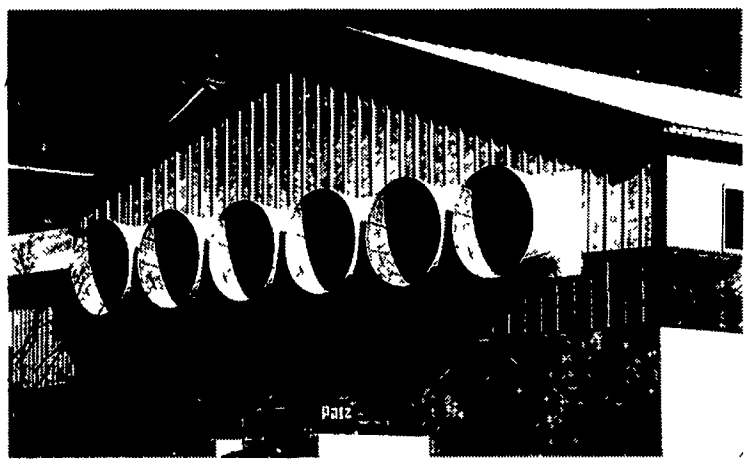
TUNNEL VENTILATION + AERO COOL™ EVAPORATIVE COOLING = ULTIMATE COW COMFORT



Evaporative Cooling Pad in 76 Cow Tie-Stall Barn
Quarryville, PA

Evaporative Cooling for Dairy Tie-stall Barns

The use of evaporative cooling for livestock and poultry in the northeast United States has been gaining acceptance in recent years. The main reason being that producers now understand that during the hottest part of the day, the relative humidity is often very low, which allows for the effective use of evaporative cooling. Since many tie-stall dairy barns now use tunnel ventilation systems for hot weather, dairy farmers can further enhance their hot weather ventilation by adding evaporative cooling pads. These systems work hand-in-hand to increase the amount of heat removed from the cow due to the high air speeds. The cost of the cooling system is minimized when designing it for tunnel ventilation compared to a cross-flow ventilation system.

What is Evaporative Cooling?

When water evaporates, heat energy is converted into a different form, which lowers the temperature of the air or the object that the water was on. As water evaporates the temperature continues to drop until the air reaches the 100% saturated point. In the northeast U.S. there is typically a 16 degree F. cooling potential on an average 90 degree day. Since most evaporative pad systems are designed to be 75% efficient, that means that a 12 degree temperature drop could be expected. When temperatures reach 98 to 100 degrees, there is often a cooling potential of up to 24 degrees, resulting in an 18 degree drop in barn air temperatures. THE HOTTER IT IS, THE MORE COOLING YOU GET!

Outstanding Guernsey Stakeholders Honored At Meeting

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — The Pennsylvania Guernsey Breeders banquets and sale took place at the Arena Restaurant/ Quality Inn and Bedford Fair 4-H building here on the weekend of April 24 and 25.

Julie Sollenberger gave a short talk on the success of her year as both Pennsylvania and National Guernsey Queen.

"It was like a dream come true," said Sollenberger. "Ever since I was nine years old I dreamed of having these titles."

During this past year, she traveled to California and Puerto Rico representing the Guernsey breed.

She gave thanks to Raymond and Elma Peachey, who won the Albert Hack Service Award, for her first calf and to her grandparents who introduced her to the breeders association.

Crowned 2003-2004 Pennsylvania Guernsey Queen was Amy Liggett of Enon Valley, daughter of Dave and Debra Liggett. She is a sophomore at Youngstown State University in the Dana School of Music as a music education major.

- High 2-Year-Old Milk/Fat/ Protein: Thomas Trotter, Enon Valley.
- High 3-Year-Old Milk/Fat/ Protein: Tobin Stuff, Mercersburg.
- High 4-Year-Old Milk/Fat/ Protein: Terri Johnson, York.
- High 5-Year-Old Milk: Terri Johnson, York.
- High 5-Year-Old Fat/Protein, Terri Johnson, York.

Junior All Pennsylvania Awards went to:

- Junior Heifer Calf: Nathan Boyle, Evan City.
- Intermediate Heifer Calf: Nathan Boyle, Evan City.
- Senior Heifer Calf: Britta Guyer, Albion.
- Summer Yearling: Kendy Gable, New Enterprise.
- Junior Yearling: Tobin Stuff, Mercersburg.
- Intermediate Yearling: Andrew Liggett, Enon Valley. • Senior Yearling, Amy Guyer, Derry.
- Senior 2-Year-Old: Kendy Gable, New Enterprise.
- Junior 3-Year-Old: Kendy Gable, New Enterprise.
- 4-Year-Old: Shareena Hershberger, Bedford.
- 5-Year-Old: Sarah Weimer, Emlenton.
- Best Bred and Owned: Nathan Boyle, Evan City.

Melissa Kohler received the All American Recognition award.

Jeff Ansell was named outstanding youth. Abby and Thomas Trotter were named outstanding girl and boy, respectively.

Open All-Pennsylvania awards went to the following:

- Junior Calf: Nathan Boyle.
- Intermediate Calf: Robert Smith.
- Senior Calf: Britta Guyer.
- Summer Yearling: Kendy Gable.
- Junior Yearling: Elsie Wolff and Kevin Stoltzfus.
- Intermediate Yearling: Amy Guyer.
- Junior 2-Year-Old: Aaron Gable.
- Senior 2-Year Old: Kendy Gable.
- Junior 3-Year-Old: Kendy Gable.
- 4-Year-Old: Aaron Gable.
- 5-Year-Old: Sarah Weimer.
- 6-Year-Old: Aaron Gable.
- Best Bred and Owned: Aaron Gable

Production awards included:

- High Herd (over 25 cows): Rutter Brothers, 30 cows, 19,301 pounds of milk, 847 of fat, and 637 of protein.
- High Herd (under 25 cows): Twin Brook Farm, 10 cows, 18,061 milk, 780 fat, and 582 protein.
- High cow for milk fat protein in 2002: Terri Johnson, Rutter Brothers Enhancer Lily, 28,645 pounds of milk, 1391 of fat, 905 of protein.

Pennsylvania Guernsey enthusiasts were also recognized for a number of other achievements.

Sarah Weimer, Emlenton, received the George W. Snyder award.

Raymond and Elma Peachey are recipients of the Albert Hack Guernsey Service Award.

Jeff Ansell was named outstanding youth; Amy Liggett, 2003/2004 queen; Thomas Trotter outstanding boy; and Abby Trotter, outstanding girl.

Snider Homestead Farm, winner of the grand champion award at the 2003 Pennsylvania Farm Show, received the John Brachman award.

The Albert Hack Service Award went to Raymond and Elma Peachey of East Earl.

Newly named members of the Guernsey Hall of Fame are John and Karen Morrow and their entire family of Tyrone.

Jim Trotter, presenter of the Hall of Fame award, said it was the first time an entire family has been so honored.

For many years, the Morrow family has spent three days each August making milkshakes at Ag Progress Days — "some of them from the time they were able to look over the counter," Trotter said.

Young Farmers And Ranchers Leadership Conference

An excellent opportunity for YF&R's throughout the state to gather at one location. This conference is created for young agriculturalist by Young Farmers and Ranchers. You will have the opportunity to share your agricultural experiences, both successes and failures, with friends and new acquaintances. Attendees will return home with an increased understanding of the agricultural industry. The opportunities are great and you will experience a feeling of self-improvement. Leadership skills are a rare commodity and in high demand.

Involvement in Young Farmers and Ranchers is limited only by one's energy and enthusiasm. Farm Bureau is a great organization and we'd like you to be a part of the Young Farmers and Ranchers program. It is no secret that our organization faces some tough challenges today and in the years to come. The public's perception of agriculture requires that we take a more proactive role in facing the issues of labor, land, pesticides, water, and animal welfare. Only with strong leadership and a commitment to making young farmers and ranchers a stronger and more vital representative for agriculture, will we be meeting our challenges and goals.

Join today and become an active member in the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau's Young Farmers and Ranchers Program.

ANDY ANDREWS
Editor

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — Penn State College of Agriculture Sciences Dean Robert Steele wants everyone to know what season we're in.

It's college recruitment time.

He mentioned to about 150 who attended Wednesday evening's Pennsylvania Farm Bureau political action committee (PAC) FARMER banquet that he wasn't there to ask for money or brag about Penn State.

Well, OK, he bragged about Penn State.

He squelched a rumor, anyway, that said the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Raechel Kilgore was going to Cornell.

Steele noted Penn State was going "neck and neck and shoulder to shoulder" with Cornell, but in the end, he assured those present, that Raechel, Airville, is going to Penn State. Steele said Rachel's father (Doug) was at the banquet and "told me," he said.

"I'm feeling real good here, tonight," Steele told those at the $150-a-person banquet conducted at the West Shore Country Club in Camp Hill.

Steele, guest speaker at the FARMER political action committee fundraiser (to support state legislative candidates), spoke about his roots in Pennsylvania and the fact that "I have a stake in the future of the Pennsylvania economy and particularly in the food and fiber industry," he said.

Steele spoke about his "five points" of sustaining agriculture in the state, including price, profitability, community service, water (the "single most important, galvanizing issue," he noted), and leadership.

The keys remain: technology, while important, won't be the fix to improving ag's viability, but an important part. "Is technology the driver?" Steele noted the steady globalization of the marketplace to a more consumer-driven economy. He noted that "one out of every five rows" of corn is exported through products that have value added to them.

Steele emphasized how important "collaborative planning" is for water rights and water issues. Leadership must be brought to bear in order to enhance the collaborative planning process.

Speakers at the banquet also included Secretary of Agriculture designee Dennis Wolff and legislators.

The FARMER event, in its 23rd year, began in 1981 and has since experienced 12 general elections and supported some 700 and more bids for state office. Contributions to the political action committee amounted to more than $45,000 in 2002.

Council Announces Beef Month

MIDDLETOWN (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Beef Council will celebrate May Beef Month on Wednesday, May 7 at the 2003 Great Pennsylvania Workout Day sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Health and the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

In partnership with Workout Day, the Beef Council will kick-off the official start of summer grilling season with Pennsylvania produced, beef quality assured (BQA) burgers at the Capitol Fountain on Commonwealth Street, Harrisburg. The event will remind Workout Day participants that beef is a important source of nutrients such as zinc, iron, and protein. The 2003 Great Workout Day is open to the public.

Don't Put All Your Eggs in One Basket!

Low Lignin Warm Season Annuals

Quick Growing Summer Productive Crops

Hybrid Pearl Millet

Mega-Mil - Prussic acid free. Safe for horses. Better than sorghum sudans on light soils and tolerates lower pH soils. Excellent forage quality similar to our BMR sorghum sudans.

- Safe for Horses
- Excellent Forage Quality
- Tolerates Low pH Soils
- Prussic Acid Free

BMR Sorghum Sudans

Our BMR varieties contain 35-40% less lignin than conventional varieties, resulting in super digestibility and animal performance. Ready to cut in about 40 days. Similar energy to corn silage, but twice the protein.

- Century BMR - Time tested product. Great for double crop programs. Heads in 80-85 days.
- Summer Queen BMR - Limited supply. For full season production without heads.
- Summer King BMR - New lower cost product. Heads in about 60-65 days.

Forage Sorghum

Millennim BMR - Corn silage alternative Requires 1/3 the water of corn. Virtually equal to average corn silage in energy, but has higher sugar and protein. Can be planted with corn.

- Corn Silage Alternative
- Requires Less Water
- High Quality Forage
- High Sugar Content

Summer Annual Planting Management

Planting Depth: ½ to 1 inch deep

Time of Planting:
- Plant Sorghum sudans and Forage sorghum after soil temperatures reach 60 degrees (typically 2 to 3 weeks after corn planting begins). Can be planted as late as early July assuming moist soil.
- Plant Mega-Mil after soil temperatures reach 65 degrees. Mega-Mil seed is smaller and needs good seed-to-soil contact.

Fertility:
- Use soil testing. Manure is an excellent source of fertility.
- Nitrogen: For Sorghum sudans and Mega-Mil apply 75 units at time of planting, plus 50 units after each cut or every other grazing. For Forage sorghum use 75-85% of corn recommendation for your area.

Get Cracking For National Egg Month

This spring, dairy farmers from America's heartland are sharing their favorite make-ahead brunch recipes so you can spend less time in the kitchen and more time with family and friends.

Susan Troyer of Frostheart Farm in Waterford, "Grandma" Mary Mack of Kylecrest Holsteins Farm in Elkhorn, Wis., and Dorothy Vold of Dorrich Dairy in Glenwood, Minn., have never met, but they have something in common — all enjoy cooking hearty brunches for their loved ones with delicious farm-fresh foods their families are dedicated to producing.

Grandma Mack's Breakfast Delight.

GRANDMA MACK'S BREAKFAST DELIGHT

1 tube (8-ounce) refrigerated crescent rolls
2 cups cubed fully cooked ham
5 eggs
½ cup milk
Dash of salt and pepper
2 cups frozen hash brown potatoes, thawed
1½ cups (6-ounce) cheddar jack shredded cheese

Arrange the crescent rolls on the bottom of a 13×9×2-inch baking pan. Place the ham on top of the crescent rolls. Beat the eggs, milk, salt, and pepper; set aside. Layer the hash browns over the ham, then pour the egg mixture over the hash browns. Top with cheese. Bake at 375° for 30 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Elkhorn, Wis.

CHEESY HOLIDAY BREAKFAST BAKE

8 frozen hash brown patties, thawed
4 cups (16-ounce) mild cheddar shredded cheese
1 pound of fully cooked sausage or ham
7 eggs
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground mustard

Place hash browns in a single layer in a greased 13×9×2-inch baking pan. Sprinkle with cheese and sausage or ham. In a bowl, beat eggs, milk, salt, and mustard. Pour over cheese and meat. Cover and bake at 350° for 1 hour. Uncover and bake 15 minutes longer or until edges are golden brown. Check if done by inserting a knife. If it comes out clean, breakfast is ready to eat. Makes 8 servings.

CHEESE BRAN MUFFINS

1 cup whole bran
1½ cup sour milk or buttermilk or yogurt
¼ cup butter
¼ cup white sugar
1 egg
1½ cup all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 cup shredded old cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon ground pepper

Soak bran in sour milk.

Cream butter and sugar. Beat in egg.

Stir together dry ingredients and add to creamed mixture alternately with the bran, starting and ending with flour mixture.

Stir in cheese.

Fill greased muffin cups and bake 375° for 20-30 minutes.

CRANBERRY SOUR CREAM CRUMBLE

¼ cup chopped almonds or walnuts

Topping:
¼ cup all-purpose flour
⅓ cup sugar
¼ cup chopped almonds or walnuts
¼ cup butter, melted
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Coffee Cake:
1 cup sugar
½ cup butter, softened
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
2 cups all-purpose flour
1¼ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup light sour cream or non-fat sour cream
1 cup whole cranberry sauce

Heat oven to 350°. Sprinkle ¼ cup chopped almonds or walnuts on bottom of greased 9-inch springform pan or 10-inch tube pan; set aside.

In medium bowl stir together all topping ingredients until crumbly; set aside.

In large mixer bowl combine 1 cup sugar, ½ cup butter, and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat at medium speed, scraping bowl often, until well mixed (1 to 2 minutes). Add eggs; continue beating, scraping bowl often, until well mixed (1 to 2 minutes). Continue beating, adding 2 cups flour, baking powder, baking soda, and salt alternately with light sour cream or non-fat sour cream, until well mixed (1 to 2 minutes).

Spoon half of batter into prepared pan; spread to cover bottom. Spoon cranberry sauce over batter; spread to edges. Spoon remaining batter over cranberry sauce; spread to cover. Sprinkle topping over batter.

Bake for 70 to 85 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes on wire rack; remove sides of pan. Makes 12 servings.

The diets of those who live near the Mediterranean often include an abundance of fish and seafood. Because cold water fish supply beneficial omega-3 fatty acids, it's suggested that Americans include them in greater quantities in our diets. For this dish, choose tuna or salmon to mix with snappy red peppers and garlic mayonnaise. After you spread this flavorful, quick-fix base in rolls and break in eggs, the neat individual servings will bake unattended while you prepare a salad or fruit course. Use mozzarella as the finishing touch on this pretty presentation.

LAND AND SEA BAKE

3 Kaiser, seeded or other round rolls (about 4-inch diameter), uncut
¼ cup reduced-fat mayonnaise
1 teaspoon chopped garlic
12-ounce jar roasted red peppers, drained, coarsely chopped (about 1 cup)
3-ounce pouch tuna in water, undrained OR 6-ounce can tuna or salmon in water, drained
3 eggs
3 tablespoons shredded part-skim, low-moisture mozzarella cheese

Slice tops off rolls about ½ inch from top. With fork, scrape out insides and bottoms of rolls, leaving about ½-inch wall all around. Save crumbs for another use. Set rolls aside. In medium bowl, stir together mayonnaise and garlic until well blended. Stir in peppers and tuna until evenly coated with mayonnaise mixture. Spoon ½ cup pepper and tuna mixture over bottom and up sides of each roll to form a nest. Place rolls and tops, cut side up, on baking sheet. Break and slip an egg into each nest.

Bake in preheated 325 degree oven until egg whites are completely set and egg yolks begin to thicken but are not hard, about 25-35 minutes. Sprinkle each serving with 1 tablespoon cheese.

This Cheesy Breakfast Bake makes a nutritious a one-dish meal.

Dairy Recipe Drawing Moo'ves Into The Spotlight

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — June Dairy Month is "moo-ving" the calendar of events. That means it's time to send in your favorite recipe using dairy products for Lancaster Farming's annual dairy recipe drawing.

June Dairy Month salutes dairy farmers everywhere for their hard work in providing milk, which we so often take for granted.

Lancaster Farming's annual drawing reminds us of the wonderful dairy products available to produce culinary delights.

To enter the drawing, select your favorite recipe, which must include a substantial amount of at least one dairy product. These ingredients count as a dairy product: milk, cream, sour cream, whipped cream, butter, yogurt, buttermilk, dry milk, ice cream, and all hard and soft cheeses.

Please check your ingredients carefully. Margarine and non-dairy substitutes such as frozen whipped topping do not qualify as dairy products.

Dairy recipes are needed for appetizers, soups, breads, entrees, vegetables, desserts, beverages, snacks, and salads.

Clearly print or type your recipe entry. Be sure to give accurate measurements, temperatures, cooking and baking times, sizes of baking dishes to use, and other beneficial information. We reserve the right to disqualify entries if these guidelines are not followed.

With your entry, include a few paragraphs about yourself and your family. Although it is not required, a photograph of you and your family is preferred. We and our readers love to "see" the people who send in the recipe.

Photographs will be returned if you write your name and address on the back of the photo.

Only one entry per family allowed. This contest is for adults who are 18 years old and older. We require this age because children who send in recipes often inadvertently miss measurements, ingredients, or parts of the instructions.

Send your recipe, photo, and accompanying information with your complete address; otherwise, we cannot mail your prize if you win. We are astonished when we see how many people do not include their full address and therefore forfeit receiving a prize.

Send entries immediately. Entries must be postmarked by June 2 to be eligible for the drawing.

The state dairy princess and alternates will select the winners through a random drawing.

Recipe entries will be printed throughout the month of June. A list of the winning names will appear in the June 28 issue of Lancaster Farming.

On Being a Farm Wife (and other hazards)

Joyce Bupp

Whatever happened to the "paperless society?"

Remember that promise we heard long ago, when computers were still cutting-edge technology? Back in that era before cyber-babble and the ability to instantly e-mail jokes were not part of our everyday lifestyle. Whatever happened to that paperless society we were promised by the advent of doing everything by computer?

Computers communicating with each other would virtually eliminate paper. Computers communicating with each other would save lots of trees. Yeah. Right.

Reality is that computers enable us to not only to quickly communicate with each other, they allow us to produce hard copy proof of it. And, we can replicate it umpteen times over with the mere finger-punch of a key.

Now we seamlessly team computer-generated communication with reach-out-and-send-something FAX technology. So, in addition to cluttering our own desks, but can efficiently spread the paper piles to the desks of other folks.

Which goes a long way toward explaining why, at a pre-dawn hour too early to battle paper wars stress, I was nevertheless scrimmaging with two-days-worth of "paperless" pileup. The stuff always seems to accumulate faster than usual anytime something prevents me from tackling it immediately.

Occasionally I make the mistake of ignoring the pileup for a day or two. Inevitably, there will be some timely item buried at the bottom that needed attention days before. Such experiences have beaten me into at least trying to sort and shuffle the desk-mess to more organized piles.

And it is always with a good deal of self-satisfaction to be able to zap about half of it, right off the bat, to the great "delete" button of life. Otherwise known as the trash can.

Promptly thus deleted are most sale flyers of any kind and practically all fund-raiser pleas. Tossed onto the recycling pile are publications we never ordered, dealing with interests we don't pursue, like the glitzy golf and cruising magazines which stuffed the mailbox for awhile.

Equally treated are multiple credit card offers which arrive on a daily basis. I'm never sure — should one be insulted or complemented for the abundance with which companies so readily offer us the use of their money. For a price, of course, generally buried in very fine print.

At the top of this particular morning's paperwork-pile battle was a survey. Surveys meet with mixed review here, dependent on the mood of whoever opens them or how far down in the pile they get buried. Short, relevant, uncomplicated ones that can be quickly answered, may be. Wordy, detailed, pages of survey questions generally relegate themselves to heifer-pen bedding.

Some paper pileups contain an inordinate number of catalogs, offering anything from tractor-trailers to office supplies to safety gear. An occasional one wins a berth in our highly-organized catalog library, a stack which snuggles with dust bunnies under a desk.

Communications dealing specifically with our dairy and crops marketing earn keeper status. Ditto for newsletters, business-related informational materials, and periodicals relevant to what we do, all put aside for later study.

Naturally, most welcome and carefully safeguarded are the items we all really want to find in paperwork piles, things like personal letters, greeting cards, checks. Granted, bills are greeted with less enthusiasm, but nevertheless command respectful attention. Likewise for communications from insurance carriers, taxing entities, and the like.

Based on our years of experience since the original promises of the paperless society, we are convinced of two certainties.

Paper company stock was probably a good investment at some point.

And, the stuff sure soaks up a lot of cattle waste.

Vendors Invited To Delmarva Chicken Festival

DOVER, Del. — Artisans seeking an opportunity to showcase their wares and commercial vendors (non-food) wanting to share their product with an estimated 20,000 festival visitors, are invited to participate in the 54th Delmarva Chicken Festival, June 20-21, in Dover.

An arts and craft show will be staged in Memorial gym on the campus of Delaware State University (DSU) in Dover. Vendors will receive a 10' × 10' indoor space. Tables, chairs, and other equipment must be provided by the vendor. Show hours will be 11 a.m.-8 p.m. daily.

The home and trade show, coordinated by Kent County Tourism, host for the 2003 Delmarva Chicken Festival, offers 10' × 10' indoor spaces in the Martin Luther King Student Center at DSU. Draped spaces will include an eight-foot table and two chairs. The show will be open to the public between 11 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Applications for the arts and crafts show or home and trade show are available from Kent County Tourism, P.O. Box 576, Dover, Delaware 19901, telephone (800) 233-KENT or (302) 734-1736.

Delmarva Chicken Festival is sponsored annually by Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc. All activities are open to the public. Admission is free.

Teachers Hear Good News About Eggs

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

CENTERVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Nutritional recommendations keep changing. First, the so-called experts tell us to limit eating eggs to once a week to lower cholesterol, but recent studies confirm it's OK to eat an egg a day.

Even the American Heart Association showed it had a change of heart when it lifted the restriction off eggs by reporting, "There is no longer a specific recommendation on the number of egg yolks a person may consume per week."

That's good news for the poultry industry, who knew all along that the positive benefits of eggs were getting scrambled in the hype over cholesterol.

The Lancaster County Poultry Association wants to make sure that school consumer science teachers are aware that eating eggs is beneficial. They want teachers to pass on the truth to students: Eggs are a nutrient-dense food containing high quality protein, essential vitamins and minerals, and all essential amino acids. Eggs are affordable and convenient.

Each year, the association invites area school teachers to a dinner. It was recently served at the Quality Inn, Centerville.

Dr. Hilary Shallo Thesmar of the Egg Nutrition Center, Washington, D.C., presented "The Good News About Eggs."

The good news about eggs is a message everyone should know, according to these poultry industry leaders. From left are Dr. Greg Martin, poultry extension agent; Ray Sauder, R.W. Sauder's Eggs; Dr. Hilary Thesmar, Egg Nutrition Center, Washington, D.C.; and Lancaster County Poultry Association officers Guy Martin, treasurer, and Andy Bradford, president.

Thesmar said that two large eggs provide 6 percent food energy, 20 percent protein, 53 percent essential amino acids, 16 percent vitamin B12, 12 percent folate, 34 percent selenium, 8 percent vitamin B6, 8 percent iron, 30 percent riboflavin, 12 percent vitamin D, 16 percent phosphorous, 8 percent zinc, and 12 percent vitamin A. Each egg has only 70 calories.

"How many snacks can you find with only 70 calories? Thesmar asked.

She dissected the internal value of each egg. In addition to the well known health benefits of protein and vitamins, eggs also contain choline and lutein, which recently have been in the news for their dietary value. Choline is important as a nerve cell transmitter in brain development and memory. Lutein protects against age-related macular degeneration and cataracts, and may help prevent early atherosclerosis.

Thesmar also addressed egg safety and salmonella enteritidis (SE).

According to the Egg Nutrition Center, a person who eats a raw egg every day would encounter a contaminated egg once in 55 years. The USDA estimates that the average consumer eats an undercooked egg 20 times a year. If so, consumers would be exposed to SE-contaminated undercooked shell egg once in 1,000 years.

For more information on egg safety and egg nutrition, contact Dr. Greg Martin, (717) 394-6851, or the American Egg Board www.aeb.org or the Egg Nutrition Center at www.enc-online.org.

Maryland Plans Ag In The Classroom Teacher Workshop

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. — The Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation has announced its Ag in the Classroom Summer Workshop set for June 23-27, at the Westminster Conference Center.

Workshop activities support Maryland state learner outcomes and include field trips, hands-on learning, classroom demonstrations and more. Workshop participants will be provided with over $600 of educational resources including videos, trade books, models, and ready-to-use lesson plans.

Agricultural industry professionals and trained instructors will be on hand presenting the most up-to-date information to teachers.

Teachers attending the workshop can earn three (3) in-service credits from the Maryland State Department of Education and will leave the workshop with a wide array of educational materials, ready for use in the classroom this fall. Registration is only $100 and includes four (4) nights lodging, tours, five (5) days of training, most meals, and limitless educational resources. The $100 fee is non-refundable.

Interested teachers should contact Jeanne Mueller of the Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation at (410) 848-4745 immediately to get in on this fun-filled workshop. Space is limited to 50 participants.

May 9 Is National Provider Appreciation Day

Provider Appreciation Day is a special day to recognize child care providers, teachers, and educators of young children everywhere.

Started in 1996 by a group of volunteers in New Jersey, Provider Appreciation Day is appropriately celebrated each year on the Friday before Mother's Day. The founding organizers saw the need to recognize the tireless efforts of providers who care for children of working parents. Since then, momentum and support for this event have grown each year. Recognition takes many forms, including state and municipal government proclamations, local media coverage, business and community events, and private acknowledgement from parents.

Today's child care profession is one of the most underpaid occupations in the country; yet early childhood is the most critical developmental period for all children. Parents and community leaders are encouraged to show their appreciation for child care providers through a variety of means from individual recognition to public events and local media coverage. It takes special people to work in this field, and their contribution to the quality of family life frequently goes unnoticed until now.

National studies show that there are at least 2.3 million people who earn money by caring for preschoolers. Over the past decade, the demand for child care has increased. Who's minding the kids is crucial.

Provider Appreciation Day is held so everyone can appreciate the number and importance of child care workers. It takes a dedicated person to be successful in the demanding world of today's child care professional.

Provider Appreciation Day offers a unique opportunity to recognize and commend the unselfish dedication, compassion, and strong family values that child care providers demonstrate every day.

What can you do? Get together with other parents to create a surprise.

Send flowers, cards, or a handwritten note of appreciation.

Bring breakfast or lunch for your provider and for the kids.

Work with your child to create a special remembrance.

Buy something for your provider's play area.

Key in on your provider's hobby and buy an appropriate gift.

Check to see if your employer provides a scholarship for toys, equipment, or training that you can sponsor as a parent.

Fiber Included In Carb Count

COLUMBUS, Ohio — My high-fiber cereal claims it has 20 grams of carbohydrates per serving, but only 50 calories. I thought each carb had four calories. This doesn't seem to add up.

Don't worry, your math skills are perfectly fine. The secret is in the 'high-fiber" part of your cereal.

A gram of carbohydrate does have four calories — if it's absorbed. Fiber is counted in overall carbohydrate counts on Nutrition Facts labels, but it is not absorbed by the body.

So, whenever you examine carbohydrates on the Nutrition Facts labels on a fiber-containing food, you need to subtract the fiber grams from the overall carbohydrate grams to get an accurate count of the carbs your body will absorb. A very high-fiber cereal with 20 grams of carbohydrate might have 13 grams of fiber, leaving only 7 grams of carbohydrate — for a total of 28 calories from carbs — to be absorbed by the body.

Other calories in the cereal could come from protein — also four calories per gram — and fat, which contains nine calories per gram.

The Daily Reference Intake for fiber, established in September 2002, is 38 grams a day for men and 25 grams a day for women. Those are levels high enough to reduce risk of heart disease. Nutrition Facts labels use a standard of 25 grams of fiber a day, so a food with 2.5 grams of fiber per serving would be labeled as having 10 percent of the Daily Value for fiber.

High-fiber diets can reduce the risk of heart disease and, evidence suggests, some types of cancer. Fiber can help lower blood cholesterol levels, control blood sugar and insulin release in people with diabetes, and can help keep you "regular" preventing both constipation and loose stools. And, it can help fill you up without adding any calories to a meal. All in all, the benefits aren't bad for something that merely passes through.

The "Stream Map of Pennsylvania" was completed in 1965 after a 30 year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor.

Professor Higbee succeeded in creating a map of the highest detail possible...a map that shows every stream and lake. He painstakingly plotted by hand, the location of 45,000 miles of streams onto a 3 by 5 foot map.

The map sold extremely well - until it was lost several years later. Incredibly, the printer entrusted with the original drawing and printing plates declared bankruptcy, then carelessly hauled Higbee's 30 years of work to the landfill.

The few remaining dog-eared copies became a prized fisherman's possession. Professor Higbee was offered $400 for one of his last maps. And state agencies were forced to keep their copies under lock and key.

The experts had always told Professor Higbee that reprints were impossible, because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue.

Then, in 1991, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true Computers made it possible to reprint the map Holding an updated map, Howard said, "I never thought I'd live to see this day"

Then, by combining Professor Higbee's knowledge with computer technology -- the STREAM MAP OF OHIO was created.

Beef: It's What's For Dinner — Virginia Beef Expo

On Friday April 18, in Harrisonburg Amie Knick was named Virginia Beef Queen at the Va. Beef Expo. Aimi said that beef is nature's best "multi-vitamin," and moreover, is a great-tasting, healthy choice for dinner because it contains iron, zinc, proteins and B-vitamins.

GAY BROWNLEE
Virginia Correspondent

HARRISONBURG, Va. — At the 2003 Virginia Beef Expo, April 18-19 at the Rockingham County Fairgrounds, it was hardly surprising to find stations where the Virginia Cattle Women and their helpers were serving various samples of beef, including the "famous" ribeye sandwich.

One promoter doing a share of the work because she had just inherited a new title was Amie Knick, the 2003 Virginia Beef Queen who shows open cattle and lives on a Simmental farm comprised of about 40 head, in a cow/calf operation.

In the fall, Knick will be completing the studies necessary to receive her degree in ag education from Virginia Tech.

"Im required to travel across Virginia to promote the beef industry," Knick said.

"Beef," she said, "is natures best multi-vitamin because it contains, iron, zinc, protein and B vitamins."

Winning the state title was a gratifying experience for Knick after being thwarted twice in previous attempts to earn the title. This time she pulled together a speech that emphasized the positive phase of the beef industry and focused on factual information to impress the judges with her knowledge about her product.

Knick said the Beef Check-Off Program is an important promotional tool that receives $1 anytime a beef animal is sold.

The beef queen was anticipating interacting with the public and didn't have long to wait for the first opportunity. Almost immediately she was directed to the table where hamburger sandwich halves to offer to passers-by had been prepared. The burgers were made from irradiated beef, so Knick found herself answering questions about food irradiation issues.

According to an educational brochure developed by the Minnesota Dept. of Agriculture in cooperation with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, Minn. Dept. of Health and the Minn. Beef Council, food irradiation is the process of exposing food products to ionizing radiation for a specified length of time. The amount of exposure is controlled to produce various preservation effects, such as retarding spoilage or killing any harmful bacteria.

Some skeptical consumers continue to reserve judgment and still are not ready to whole-heartedly endorse the idea of using irradiation to kill food-borne bacteria, by moving the food through a radiant energy field that, according to the brochure, never touches the energy source.

At the 2003 Va. Beef Expo in Harrisonburg, between the times for her scheduled cooking demonstrations, Shirley Simmons of WTVR Ch. 6, Richmond, displays the "On Your Menu" cookbook. The cookbook project evolved by popular request of viewers watching her cooking segment and attending her community appearances. A number of excellent recipes in it list beef amongst the necessary ingredients.

But researchers say that food irradiation has been studied for more than 40 years and has neither been found to cause harm to human beings, nor make the food radioactive.

Shirley Simmons from WTVR-TV6, Richmond was doing cooking demonstrations at the Expo as well as offering the stations 50th anniversary cookbook, "On Your Menu" to visitors. In conjunction with the station's noon news that every Monday features a segment with Simmons, the cookbook carries over the title. "On Your Menu" contains a number of recipes that call for beef in the ingredients list. Several of these are printed as follows:

ORIENTAL EXPRESS BEEF
(Lettuce Wraps)

1½ pounds ground beef chuck
½ cup hoisin sauce
½ cup Asian peanut sauce
1 medium cucumber, seeded, chopped
¼ cup torn fresh mint leaves
Salt and pepper
12 large Boston lettuce leaves (about 2 heads) or iceberg or romaine lettuce
Fresh mint leaves

In a large nonstick skillet over medium heat, brown the ground beef 8-10 minutes or until meat is not pink, breaking into small crumbles. Pour off drippings. Stir in hoisin sauce and peanut sauce. Heat through.

Just before serving, add cucumber and torn mint, toss gently. Season with salt and pepper. Serve beef mixture in lettuce leaves. Garnish with fresh mint.

SWEET AND SPICY CHINESE MEATBALLS
(on Brown Rice)

1 (18 ounce) package frozen fully cooked beef meatballs
2 cups uncooked instant long-grain brown rice
1 can (20 ounces) pineapple chunks in juice
1½ cup prepared medium picante sauce
1 cup sugar-free apricot preserves
Sliced green onions

Microwave meatballs according to package directions. Cook rice according to package directions. Measure ½ cup of juice from the pineapple and place in large sauce pan.

Reserve remaining juice for some other use. Stir in picante sauce and preserves, bring to a boil. Add meatballs and pineapple chunks. Reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve over the rice. Sprinkle with green onions.

MEAT LOAF
POT ROAST

1 pound lean ground beef
⅔ cup evaporated milk
⅓ cup Italian-style bread crumbs
¼ cup thick and chunky picante salsa
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 medium potatoes, peeled and sliced ¼-in. thick
2 medium onions sliced ¼-inch thick and quartered
3 medium carrots quartered and cut lengthwise
3 teaspoons dried parsley flakes

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Mix together the first 7 ingredients in a bowl.

Shape into a loaf and place in center of a 13x9x2-inch pan that has been sprayed with nonstick cooking spray. Around the meatloaf layer the potatoes, carrots and onions. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and parsley flakes.

Cover with aluminum foil. Bake one hour or until vegetables are tender. Uncover and bake 10 minutes longer to brown the meat. Serves 4.

MUFFIN TIN
MEAT LOAVES

1½ pounds lean ground beef
1½ cup zucchini, shredded
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon dried Italian seasoning
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup ketchup

Heat oven to 400 degrees. In large bowl, combine all ingredients except ketchup, mixing lightly but thoroughly. Place approximately ⅓ cup beef into each of 12 muffin cups, pressing lightly. Spread ketchup over the tops. Bake 20 minutes or until centers are no longer pink. Remove meat loaves from pan. Serve with mashed potatoes if desired. Serves 6.

MEXICAN BEEF STIR-FRY

1 pound top sirloin steak
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
1 tablespoon ground cumin
1 tablespoon dried oregano leaves
1 clove garlic
1 red bell pepper, cut into thin strips
1 medium onion, cut into thin wedges
1 jalapeno pepper, cut into slivers
3 cups romaine lettuce, sliced ¼-inch strips

Cut beef into ⅛-inch strips. Combine oil, cumin, oregano and garlic setting aside half. In a large nonstick frying pan, heat half the seasoned oil over medium heat until hot. Add red pepper, onion and jalapeno pepper. Stir-fry 2-3 minutes or until crisp-tender. Remove and reserve. In same pan stir-fry beef strips in reserved oil 1-2 minutes. Return vegetables to pan and heat through. Serve beef mixture over lettuce. Serves 4.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know who to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

Or, you may e-mail questions and answers to LGOOD.EPH@LNPNEWS.COM

Please clarify what question you are answering when responding.

Do not send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply. If we receive the answer, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it. However, if your question requires someone to mail items to you, you must include your address or phone number for publishing.

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a self-addressed stamped envelope. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Check your recipe to make sure you copy the right amounts and complete instructions for making the recipe. Sometimes we receive numerous answers to the same request, but cannot print each one.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address. You may also e-mail questions and answers to LGOOD.EPH@LNPNEWS.COM

QUESTION — Sometimes readers send in requests or answers, which aren't clearly defined, to this column. For example Henry McMaster, Kemblersville, wants a cake recipe that calls for ½ cup maraschino cherries, ¼ cup cherry juice, and ½ cup ground pecans. I'm not sure if he is referring to a recipe that was previously printed or one that he heard about. Any readers able to help?

QUESTION — M.J. Wade is looking for a recipe to make a "natural" or healthier fruit roll-up. She writes, "My grandchildren love roll-ups, but after reading the label on the boxes, I am concerned about the sugar and chemical content."

QUESTION — A reader from Martinsburg requests a recipe for macadamia nut cookies.

QUESTION — Honor your mother, wife, grandmother and mother-in-law in recognition of Mother's Day, May 11. Send in a favorite recipe that one of them makes or has made that you enjoy. Make sure to include their name and a few sentences about them, and your name. These recipes will be printed in the May 10th edition. We will even print a photo if you send in a good clear shot. Must be received at the office by May 5. Send to Mother's Day Recipes, P.O, Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522 or e-mail to LGOOD.EPH@LNPNEWS.COM.

QUESTION — Make sure you send in your recipe to be eligible for prizes in the June Dairy Month Drawing. Check for details in this section.

QUESTION — Mary Bowles, Red Lion, requests a recipe for crockpot tapioca.

QUESTION — Mary of Smithsburg, Md., requests recipes to make a good granola cereal.

QUESTION — Leda Stevens requests a recipe for a delicious peach pie. She writes that one had been published last year in this paper during the peach season. The pie was made with a pre-baked pie crust and fresh peaches, Karo syrup, cornstarch, and peach-flavored Jell-O, but she lost the recipe and doesn't know the measurements or how the filling was thickened. "It was to die for!" she writes. Did anyone else clip the recipe? If so, please send it in to be reprinted.

QUESTION — Robert Loss, Middleburg, wants a recipe for soupies. He wants the exact ingredients, press time, and cure time. He requests an actual recipe and not advice to contact a sausage association.

QUESTION — Brenda Weidenhammer, Schuylkill Haven, is looking for a recipe to make fig bars that taste similar to Fig Newtons.

QUESTION — An Ephrata reader would like granola bar recipes that taste like Sunbelt chewy honey and oats granola bars.

QUESTION — Gloria Craley, Narvon, is looking for a recipe for "bag pudding," where dough and fruit are kneaded in a muslin bag, then the mixture is cooked in the bag in boiling water.

QUESTION — Alice Rohland, Lititz, recently purchased a home grain mill and now grinds her own whole wheat flour. She wonders if anyone had any pointers for using freshly ground whole wheat. She has read varying suggestions, such as adding wheat gluten or Vitamin C powder, dough enhancers, etc. Also, she would like to know where other Lancaster County bread-bakers purchase their wheat, rye, and oats to grind into flour. She wants to make rye and pumpernickel bread, but has not found rye.

QUESTION — Pam Bange, Hanover, wants a recipe for cherry vanilla pie (like those sold at Nell's Surefine Market in Hanover and East Berlin. The cherry pie has almond slivers on top and vanilla flavoring.

QUESTION — Jean Mitchell, Lewisburg, is looking for a recipe to make blueberry whoopie pies.

QUESTION — Shirley Schwoerer, Wysox, wants to know if sesame seeds can be sprouted. She is familiar with alfalfa seed sprouting.

QUESTION — Ralph Kieffer, Halifax, wants a recipe for Aunt Flossie's tomato soup, which he heard is printed in a Lancaster County cookbook.

ANSWER — R. Diehl, Bloomsburg, wanted a recipe for hamburg pin wheel with gravy. Thanks to Kelly Hamilton, Highland Park, N.J., for sending the recipe that she uses. She writes the recipe is from a 1956 Cutco Cookbook.

Beef Roll Poll

Part 1:
- 1 pound ground beef or 2 cups cooked ground beef
- 1 cup chopped mushrooms
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 eggs, beaten
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 tablespoons minced parsley

Brown ground beef in skillet (If using cooked beef, add 1 tablespoon fat). Add mushrooms and onions; cook until tender, stirring occasionally. Drain fat.

Part 2:
- 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 4½ teaspoons baking powder
- Salt to taste
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ½ cup shortening
- 1 cup milk

Mix together dry ingredients. Cut in shortening, add milk to make a soft dough. Roll on lightly floured board to ½-inch thickness.

Spread with meat mixture; roll up as for jelly roll.

Bake 20-25 minutes in hot oven, 425 degrees.

Serve with brown or mushroom gravy (jar), heated, or make a sauce by adding 1 cup leftover cooked vegetables to 3 cups mushroom soup. Serves 8 generously.

ANSWER — A Fleetwood reader wanted a recipe for Amish Friendship Bread using fruit juice. Thanks to a Bradford County reader who sent in a recipe and writes that the recipe was in Lancaster Farming about 12 years ago.

30 Day Friendship Cake Starter From Juice

Take juice from:
- 1 large can peaches
- 1 large can crushed pineapple
- 1 large jar maraschino cherries

Add:
- ¾ cup granulated sugar

Mix and measure to make 1½ cup mixture.Put into covered bowl or jar. Stir every day for 15 days until set. Do not refrigerate. Use in fruit salad or in the following cake recipe.

30 Day Friendship Cake
- 1½ cups starter juice
- 2½ cups sugar
- 1 large can sliced peaches, juice

Mix in large bowl. Cover with lid or plastic wrap, not foil. Stir every day for 9 days.

On Day 10, add:
- 1 large can crushed pineapple with juice
- 2½ cups sugar

Stir for 9 more days.

Day 20, add:
- 2 jars maraschino cherries, sliced, with juice from 1 jar cherries
- 2½ cups sugar

Stir for 9 days more.

Day 30: Drain juice from fruit. Divide juice into four 1½ cup portions. (Any extra juice can be put in fruit.) Keep one starter juice for yourself and give three portions to friends with a copy of the recipe.

To make: divide fruit into three equal parts. Use one part fruit, 1 box yellow cake mix, 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 cup raisins, 4 eggs, 1 small box instant vanilla pudding and ¾ cup oil.

Beat with spoon. Bake in greased and floured tube pan or bundt pan at 350 degrees for one hour or until toothpick inserted in middle comes out clean.

ANSWER — Elisabeth Keener writes: "I am concerned that readers following the recipes for McKinkley Pie printed last week will be disappointed with their results. Both recipes call for molasses; the first recipe is almost identical to the recipe I use for shoo-fly pie; the second seems more like a Montgomery Pie — except for the "molasses" as an ingredient.

In the Lancaster County area (and as far west as Franklin County, where I live) "molasses" is rather an ambiguous term; there is "table molasses" (meaning King Syrup or Karo Syrup or "baking molasses" (meaning a Br'er Rabbit type of molasses). The term "corn syrup" does not seem to be used at all. The misunderstanding of this can lead to a big disappointment in baking or in cooking.

Br'er Rabbit is molasses; King Syrup and Karo Syrup are forms of corn syrup. Molasses is made from sugar cane, and corn syrup is made from corn. Sorghum syrup comes from sorghum; I would not want to interchange any in a recipe.

In south-central Pennsylvania, shoo-fly pies are made with corn syrup even though the recipes list "molasses" as an ingredient.

My parents are from northeastern Pennsylvania, where the Pennsylvania Germans are the "fancy" sort: Lutherans and Reformed. My mother was from Luzerne County and my father from Northumberland County. Their heritage of shoo-fly pies were ones made with Br'er Rabbit molasses and the crumbs were white.

I married into a Mennonite family which has been in Franklin County for 200 years and whose shoo-fly pies were made with "molasses" called King Syrup. Fortunately, my husband prefers the ones I make compared to the ones he grew up with. My mother-in-law would tell me that my crust was very good, but she did not like the filling.

One year I entered two shoo-fly pies in a baking contest at a local fair: one made with true molasses under my name and one made with corn syrup under my mother's name. The crusts and the crumbs were identical. The one made with the corn syrup received a blue ribbon; the one made with molasses got no ribbon. Obviously, the people judging were not familiar with the shoo-fly pie that I grew up knowing.

Mother was a home economic teacher, and she was mystified by a recipe a student brought to school for candied sweet potatoes made with "molasses". Mother tried the recipe in school, but her student said the sweet potatoes didn't taste at all like she had at home. Mother asked what kind of molasses was used at the student's home. "King Syrup" was the answer.

Perhaps an explanation of the difference between true molasses and the corn syrup would be in order for your column, so that your readers who live outside this area will understand exactly what they are to be using in a recipe."

ANSWER — A Mifflinburg reader wanted a recipe for a yellow cake mix. Thanks to Shirley Orfanella, Quarryville, for sending a recipe for a yellow cake; however, I think the reader wanted a recipe for a dry mix to keep on hand for quick use.

All-Occasion Downy Yellow Butter Cake
- 6 large egg yolks
- 1 cup milk
- 2½ teaspoons vanilla
- 3 cups cake flour
- 1½ cups sugar
- 1 tablespoon and 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ¾ teaspoons salt
- 12 tablespoons butter, softened

Mix together egg yolks, ¼ cup milk, and vanilla. Combine dry ingredients. Add butter and remainder of milk. Mix on low speed until just moistened. Increase to medium speed for 1½ minutes to develop cake structure. Gradually add egg mixture in three batches. Pour into two 9-inch prepared pans and bake approximately 25-30 minutes at 350 degrees. Grease pans and line bottoms with waxed or parchment paper.

ANSWER — To answer Nancy Wallace's question about fresh ground coconut, Bob Clipp writes that fresh coconut is available at the LONG's Horseradish of York stand in the New Eastern Market on Memory Lane in York. Coconut is available starting in November through Easter, Clipp writes.

Kids Experience Life On The Farm Through Ag In The Classroom

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

REINHOLDS (Lancaster Co.) — Meadowview Farms offered students from the Ephrata School District an expansive view of the latest in dairy farming.

As part of the Ag in the Classroom studies last week, about 300 fourth graders had the opportunity to visit the farm and see firsthand how milk is produced.

Meadowview Farm is owned by the David and Joyce Zimmerman family. Zimmerman said the farm has been in the family since 1912, when his great grandparents purchased it.

The farm operated as a typical family farm until about a year and a half ago, when they decided to expand the facilities so that their adult children could make a career on the farm.

The Zimmermans went from milking 80 cows to 650. Replacements are born on the farm but moved at three weeks of age to a Lebanon County farm until the heifers freshen.

Son James showed the children the types of feed used to keep cows healthy.

James pulled a sliver of glass from the feed and asked the children how that got into the cow's feed.

Someone discarded a glass soft drink bottle in the field. When the tractor driver was mowing the fields, the glass was hidden by the corn and inadvertedly chopped into the feed.

James explained that a magnet is inserted into each cow's stomach to keep metal that is accidentally swallowed from hurting the cows. But the magnet does not attract glass and aluminum cans, which can kill a cow.

Sue Bollinger, who heads the Ephrata School District's Ag in the Classroom program and who also lives on a dairy farm, explained about helping a calf grow up to be healthy and give milk.

Students were told that all cows grow horns. If the horns are allowed to grow full-size, the horns could hurt other cows and humans. The calves are dehorned at 15 months of age when the horns are about thumb-sized and called a horn bud.

"Does it hurt?" a student asked.

"A little, but it would hurt other cows much worse if they weren't dehorned," Sue said.

She showed them how semen from Wisconsin bulls are stored in a nitrogen tank at 360 degrees below zero. She stuck a rubber band inside to show how the instant cold froze the band, which snapped like a sliver of hard plastic.

Sue explained how calves are similar to human babies, who need to be fed milk replacer similar to baby formula. Cows cannot give milk unless they give birth to a calf. Generally a cow is two years old when it has its first calf. The cows gives milk for seven months, before having a "vacation," when it is dry two months before starting the cycle over again.

The observation deck is open to visitors every day. The barns and the milking operation can be clearly viewed. Details about the process are clearly displayed to enable visitors to participate in a self-guided tour.

An observation deck on the second floor enabled the students to see the milking process from start to finish.

Zimmerman said, "Visitors can come without an appointment to watch. It's safe, and it doesn't interfere with people who are milking."

In addition to family members, Zimmerman said, "We have an excellent labor force — 12 employees, mostly part-time."

Lancaster County Dairy Princess Kari Martin and her sister Dairy Ambassador Jenna Martin were on hand to hand out ice cream. They used charts to explain how milk has protein, vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin, calcium, and iron.

"Soda has none of those nutrients, so milk is a much better choice," Kari said.

Students expressed amazement to hear that to receive the same amount of calcium that an eight-ounce glass of milk provides, they would need to eat 304 cups of popcorn, eight pounds of tuna, seven cups of broccoli, 7 cups of red beans, or 10 large fried eggs.

FFA students from Ephrata High School helped with the tour. Several "learn stations" were set up to teach farming basics.

Sixteen-year-old Kathy Zimmerman helps milk the cows on the family farm and is also an FFA student. She said of the recently expanded operation, "It is much easier to milk and more fun."

She explained the milking process to the students and said the band around each cow's neck contains a radio transmitter. It detects the cow's motion. An active cow reveals that a cow might be in heat. A less active cow than normal shows she might be sick or injured.

Students answer questions to reveal how much they grasped about dairy farming.

David and Joyce Martin, with the help of their children, Sharon, James, Dale, and Cathy, operate Meadowview Farm. The farm, which has been in the Zimmerman family for about 100 years, was recently expanded to 230 acres. New barns and a milking parlor with observation deck were also built. The Martins milk 650 cows three times daily.

Life On The Farm

"Cows are like people. Some cows always try to be first. Some always try to be last. Some cows are always upset. Some cows are always calm. Some cows are curious, and some are lazy," Kathy said of the personalities.

Another daughter Sharon also works on the farm. She is in charge of the milking parlor and the computers. The observation deck also overlooks the milkroom with a tank that holds 7,000 gallons of milk and another that holds 3,000 gallons. The milk is shipped to Hershey Foods through Land O' Lakes.

Another sibling, James, said that he doesn't like to milk cows. Instead he likes to feed the cows and fix equipment.

His brother Dale takes care of cow health.

"Mom pays the bills, and Dad oversees the operation," Dale said.

It's a bit cold on this April day visit to the farm, and the students asked if the cold bothered the cows.

Meyersdale FFA Recognizes Members, New Adviser

SANDRA LEPLEY
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — "Get up and be willing to risk it all," said David Bittner, state FFA president during the Meyersdale FFA Banquet, conducted Tuesday, April 15, at the high school cafeteria. "Take a chance to make it to the other side in life."

Bittner, a member of the Berlin Brothersvalley FFA, a neighboring community in Southern Somerset County, served as the guest speaker at the Meyersdale FFA Banquet, where several officers and members were given awards, as well as the new adviser, Tim Kretchman.

"Leaders know what they want in life," said Bittner. "You can't be indecisive and ready to act at the same time. It doesn't work that way."

Bittner gave a testimonial about how he never took the time to really get to know his maternal grandfather and now after his grandfather's death, it is too late for a relationship. There are no memories.

"I was stuck inside my comfort zone," said Bittner, who has decided to delay his college education this past year because of his state office but plans to go to college this fall and major in education. "Because I never took the time, I never knew my grandfather Guy Marcellas Sechler. When opportunity knocks, look through the peep hole and see who is knocking. Are there opportunities that await you? Learn what you want in life and step out and act."

After Bittner's speech, many supporting businesses were recognized and several awards were passed out.

Tim Kretchman, new adviser for the Meyersdale Future Farmers of America (FFA), received the honorary chapter degree.

"It is an honor and privilege working this group of young people," said Kretchman, who took over after advisor Jim Stutzman took a recent sabbatical. "I am absolutely impressed with this group of leaders."

For the past three years, Kretchman has been a special needs teacher at the school district and became the vocational agricultural teacher in late January. Prior to Meyersdale, he worked for three years at Blairsville-Saltsburg Elementary School in Indiana County.

His background includes growing up on a local dairy farm. He and his wife, the former Christina Thomas, have one small child, Timmy. Kretchman received his undergraduate degree from the Indiana University of Pennsylvania in special education.

"Obviously, in the transition, I didn't know a whole lot about the position and these students helped me lead," he said. "They are very, very active and dedicated and always looking to improve and looking to the future."

Jarrod Murray was recognized as the Dekalb Award winner for being the outstanding senior. Melissa Tressler received the Star Farmer Award. Brittany Wilson received the Star Greenhand Award. Other awards included ag sales and mechanics, second place — Crystal Shifflett, Missy Tressler, Mark Lowery and Jarrod Murray; tractor driving, second place — Bobby Gomer; small gasoline engines, second place — Jon Henry; and wildlife, third place — Matthew Perkins.

Public speaking awards included senior prepared — Beth Miller, first place; extemporaneous — Mark Lowery, second place; conservation — Crystal Shifflett, first, and Jon Henry; parliamentary procedure — Mark Lowery, Crystal Shifflett, Missy Tressler, Shawn Troutman, Matt Perkins, Beth Miller, all second place.

Record Books: On farm (second in county and bronze in state) — Jon Henry. Swine (fourth) and beef (second) — Matt Troutman. Beef — Beth Miller. Forestry (Somerset County Technology Center) — Norman Coberly.

Farmers Take Mission Trip To Albania

TRUMANSBURG, Ohio — George and Julie Holmes farmers in Trumansburg just returned from their 10th winter in Albania. They are under the umbrella of Fellowship of Christian Farmer's, International, Lexington, IL.

Holmes' spent two and one-half months doing missionary work in that third world country.

Albania is the size of the State of Maryland with the population of three and one-half million people. Per-capital income is $1,200 per year with most of the people farming. Unemployment ranks more than 50 percent.

The Holmes hosted one group of Americans this winter. No one wanted to travel this year with the impending war with Iraq.

The Holmes couple worked in seven villages around the capitol city of Tirana. They do door to door witnessing, relationship building, home Bible studies and children's programs and a few English classes with a teen Bible study. While the Holmes returned home to do spring farming, the SOWERS Team, which is made up of eight Albanian Christians are continuing the village outreach. They go to the seven villages twice a month. A monthly report on the village work is sent to Holmes' by e-mail each month.

Vegetable and flower seeds were hand carried over last summer and this winter. They were made into family seed packets with nine vegetable and one flower packet. The Dutch group called "Hope for Albania" donated more than 100 pounds of seeds to the Holmes' for their use in the villages. More than 3,000 family seed packets were handed out in schools and over 36 villages.

Franklin Graham's children's shoe box ministry called Samaritan Purse, gave Holmes' shoe boxes for children in the villages of Albania. They were given 800 boxes that went to 12 schools and villages. Happy children carried home boxes made up in America. They were full of toys, candy, hygiene items, school supplies, and clothes.

More than 150 pairs of reading glasses were brought over to Albania. They are mainly needed by older people, so they can read a Bible or thread a needle. What joy you see on a persons face, when they can see again. Many haven't been able to see to read in years. They simply can't afford reading glasses.

Holmes' had time this winter for language lessons. They are gaining more knowledge of the Albanian language to communicate better. With a larger alphabet and grasp of unfamiliar sounds, Holmes' slowly gained ground on language skills.

George and Julie's hospital visits to the orphan baby unit continued for its fourth year. Saturday nights were the appointed time to spend holding, rocking, and feeding orphan babies. Most of the time, the unit averaged six baby's.

A summer missions trip is being planned for those interested in a two-week trip to Albania. Village visits, children's church programs, Vacation Bible School program, orphan baby visits, helping with bible study's, and a summer picnic are on the adjenda. Also planned is a day trip of historical tours. Call for dates and an information packet (607) 387-6538.

George and Julie Holmes farm in Trumansburg, but have traveled to Albania for 10 years. They request others to accompany them for a two-week mission trip this summer.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

The beginning of May and all the flowers are blooming.

When I was a teenager, my six sisters and I planned a "May Day." Each year a different girl had the opportunity to be crowned queen. She wore a pretty cape and a crown and held a big bouquet of flowers. Then it was time to get the camera and record the event. We copied what was done at our high school and had a lot of fun doing it.

Most of my garden was planted the other week as a son and grandson rototilled it for me. This year I planted white onions instead of yellow ones. I hope that I won't be sorry as I've heard they do not keep as well. The yellow ones were packaged in a very large package and I did not need a bushel or two of onions. Our son mowed part of our large yard, and my husband did some.

As our son and his family had come a great distance, I made a nice meal of spare ribs for them with some fresh asparagus. They didn't guess the fruit in the dessert correctly as it was apples and cranberries and not cherries.

The other day I broke my good, old hoe as I weeded the strawberry bed. We shall only have a few berries as the bed of plants is quite old. Maybe our son can weld the hoe for me. One can get attached to a tool after many years of using it.

My husband can get around the house — maybe too good. He stumbled over a block of wood in the garage and really banged up his face. The skin came off of his nose and he had a big bump on his forehead. The nosebleed lasted for hours but he is recovering okay.

Editor's note: Several readers have expressed interest in sending get-well cards to Ida's husband, Allen. Lancaster Farming would be glad to forward your cards and letters to Ida's attention. Send them to Lou Ann Good, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522 and we will be glad to forward them. Thank you.

Penn State Garden Forum

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Even Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences can't really confer a green thumb, but in a Garden Forum May 31 horticulturists will provide all the information one needs to develop his or her own.

The all-day, consumer-oriented conference will feature how-to sessions on container gardening, growing roses, water gardening, herbaceous and woody perennials, and using photography and color in the garden. Expert instructors at the forum will include Anne O'Neille, curator of roses at Brooklyn Botanical Garden, and Dan Benarcik, horticulturist at Chanticleer Gardens.

The fee for the Garden Forum is $85 and includes morning refreshments, lunch, and instructional materials. To get a registration form or more information, contact Kathy Kelley at (814) 863-0918 or Pennsylvania State University, 102 Tyson Building, University Park, PA 16802. Mid-Atlantic Dairy Association Seeks Race For The Cure Team

PHILADELPHIA — Mid-Atlantic Dairy Association is seeking support from the dairy community to join in the fight against breast cancer while promoting the health benefits of milk and dairy products.

Dairy farmers, milk processors, and agribusinesses are invited to join the "3-A-Day for Dairy Team" to participate in the Race for the Cure in Philadelphia on Sunday, May 11. The 3-A-Day of Dairy for Stronger Bones is a new dairy initiative to increase the consumption of calcium.

Each year, nearly 180,000 new cases of breast cancer are diagnosed among women of all ages. Research studies showed that calcium and vitamin D may prevent breast tumors by counteracting the effects of a high-fat diet. While there are no current dietary guidelines advising a direct link between dairy consumption and decreased breast cancer, a recent study of more than 48,000 women published in the International Journal of Cancer found that the women with the highest intake of milk had less than half the risk of developing breast cancer than the women with the lowest intakes.

For more information about the Race for the Cure, contact Jean Kummer or Kara Tussey of the Mid-Atlantic Dairy Association at (215) 627-8800.

Penn State Extension Conducting Survey To Address Community Needs

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — A statewide online survey now being conducted by Penn State Cooperative Extension offers taxpayers around the commonwealth input into decisions on futute extension programs in their counties.

The survey is a new wrinkle added to extension's ongoing, long-range planning efforts, says Ted Alter, associate vice president of outreach and director of cooperative extension.

"As part of our program planning process, we do a statewide plan of work every five years to determine how we should spend our taxpayers' dollars," Alter says.

"This time, we decided to do an online needs assessment where users and nonusers of cooperative extension can visit a site and provide us with information and their thoughts.The survey asks about programming in six different areas: youth, family, and community; nutrition and health; plant production; animal production; food processing; and forestry and wildlife.

In addition to the survey, extension staff will be conducting focus groups around the state to gather information from stakeholders. The five-minute survey can be taken online until May 31 at www.extension.psu.edu/survey.

Fiberglass Wheels & Springs - Upholstery Fabric
Powder Coated and Zinc Plated Carriage Parts

700 Country Lane, Paradise, PA 17562 Aus. Service (717) 627-7120

★ ★ New Products Now Available ★ ★

~ • The Advantages of the Fiberglass Wheels are ~

Fiberglass Wheels

- Very Low Maintenance Costs These wheels are built to last a lifetime and beyond without ever having to replace any parts on the wheels under normal use. The only maintenance required will be tightening up or replacing the tire or rubber.
- High Performance Regardless of the Elements Wheels stay tight even in hot, dry conditions – No more loose rattling spokes – ever!
- Rugged Heavy Duty Design It takes a major accident or impact to break or twist these wheels.
- Hard Durable Surface Resists scuffs and scratches, paint job stays shinier.
- Easier Cleaning Spokes have all rounded corners, no tight spots for dirt to get into.

~ • The Advantages of the Fiberglass Springs are: ~

Fiberglass Springs

- Lightweight A fiberglass spring weighs 22 lbs. less than a steel spring, 44 lbs. less weight on the carriage.
- Durable One Piece Design No bolts to give out or wear.
- Better Performance With Heavy Loads The more weight, the better the ride, will not go flat and bottom out.
- No Rusting Ever Paint will not blister or peel off. No rust stains running out between the plys, providing a nicer appearance and much easier cleaning.
- A Lifetime Guarantee If these springs ever break under normal use, we will replace them free of charge.
- Stabilizer Kits – Now Available For a smoother ride and less bounce

Shupp's Grove Stacked With Delightful Finds

LOU ANN GOOD
Food And Family Features Editor

ADAMSTOWN (Lancaster Co.) — On a sunny day, few places offer a more pleasurable shopping experience than Shupp's Grove, where hundreds of vendors display antiques and collectibles beneath a canopy of trees.

The aroma of the springtime blossoms mingle with shifting sunlight and shadows for comfortable browsing at the grove situated along Rt. 897 near Adamstown.

Friendships between vendors and buyers blossom during the weekend events.

Shupp's Grove Spring Extravaganza, conducted April 25-27, opened the season. Vendors such as Regina Albert generously share knowledge about the items for sale. Albert has an extensive collection of stained glass windows, mostly from Europe. Of determining monetary value, Albert said, "The more colors, the higher the price."

Especially in demand are windows with red, blue, and gold colors. She said, "It takes gold to make red glass, silver to make blue, and gold and silver to make amethyst."

The grove has been operating an antiques and collectibles market since 1962.

Shupp's Grove is open every Saturday and Sunday, rain or shine, from now through October. Theme weeks are scheduled in addition to the regular vendors. Admission is free except during special events such as the Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival, May 23-26, and May 30-June 1, when admission price includes demonstrations, folklore, square dancing, clogging, quilt show, and many other events affiliated with the Pennsylvania Dutch history.

For a schedule of events, check out the Website, www.shuppsgrove.com, or call (717) 484-4115.

Directions to Shupp's Grove: Pennsylvania Turnpike Exit 21 to Rt. 272 north, right at Rt. 897 south, go three-quarters of a mile. Shupp's Grove is on the left.

Joan Johnston holds an alphabet hooked rug from the 1930s: A for angel, B for bird, and C for cow. It is marked $125.

Limoges porcelain in many different patterns and colors are available at Jennylin Antiques and through many other vendors displaying at Shupp's Grove. The Depose pattern is marked $450.

With his jeweled turban, the Sultan attracts attention to his intricately designed vase collection.

Verna Pelleschi of Jennylin Antiques shows off a 1930's sewing chest cabinet stocked with original threads, darners, and other unique items for the seamstress. During the extravaganza, the cabinet price was marked $150.

Old Paper Dolls
Popular Adult Collectibles

It isn't often a large collection of paper dolls, some dating to the late 17th century, comes to auction.

When the dolls and paper dolls collected by Maurine Popp appeared at the April 12 Skinner auction, prices ran the gamut from $206 for several full-sized Sunday funny paper doll sheets, including a rare uncut Dick Tracy, to a whopping $22,325 for a possibly 17th century lady with mica overlays.

The set consisted of a full-length painted figure of a lady with 21 painted mica overlays of various costumes, along with two male escorts. Considering the fragility of paper it is amazing that so many examples still exist.

The auction was an education in the many types and subjects

ANTIQUE DETECTIVE

that were made into paper dolls. For example a three-dimensional figure of Marie Taglioni, of the 1830s dressed in a delicate, hand-made tissue costume trimmed in gold leaf paper sold for $999. There was a set of humorous animal paper dolls with costumes "Jolly Rover" made by Raphael Tuck that sold for $294. There were several sets of advertising paper dolls using animals and Rose O'Neill paper dolls.

The first paper dolls were reported in 1280 by explorer Marco Polo.

He told of seeing paper figures of human beings as part of Chinese religious rights.

However , paper dolls as we know them weren't seen until the 18th century, when often, life-size jointed paper dolls were created and used as jumping jack toys or marionettes.

Actual paper dolls, printed on sheets of flat paper, were being made in the early 19th century in England, Germany, and France. Some were hand-painted in color.

Others were printed in black and white, to be colored by the buyer. The subject was usually ladies and their costumes.

In 1810 paper dolls went from fashions to fun when S.J. Fuller Company of London made paper cutouts just for children. They combined little booklets with stories of the paper doll character. Among the most popular was the history of Little Fanny and her six costume changes.

By 1854 the first paper doll for children was made in America. The publishing company of Crosby, Nichols & Company of Boston included a paper doll, named Fanny Gray. Along with several costumes and a booklet of verses the doll came in a box and with a wooden base. By 1859 Godey's Lady's Book began publishing a complete series of paper dolls; six boys and six girls, with a set of their own newest fashions.

The best known publisher of 19th century paper dolls is Rafael Tuck and Company, Ltd. of London. He can rightly claim to be the originator of personality celebrity paper dolls.

Not only did he print his "Six Famous Queens" series, but famous stage stars of the day including Jenny Lind and Maude Adams. They were titled "Famous Faces," a novel series Of Dressing Dolls." Many of Tuck's paper dolls sold at the Skinner auction.

By the early twentieth century newspapers and magazines, such as McCall's, Ladies' Home Journal, and Woman's Home Companion offered the Lettie Lane Paper Family and the favorite, Rose O'Neil's "Kewpies." In 1914 the Kewpies appeared in a hard-cover paper doll book for the first time.

From the beginning of the movie industry "movie stars" were turned into paper dolls.

Not all celebrity paper dolls were movie stars in the 20th century. One of the most popular, was and is Barbie.

CLUES: Remember, should you find an old sheet — don't cut it. Look for examples in old photo albums, family Bibles and scrapbooks. Collect paper dolls from the 1940s through today in uncut books, sheets or boxed sets for top values. The original box for early paper dolls adds to the value. The better their condition the better the price.

"AUCTION - the ultimate marketplace" www.zieglerauction.com

After 83 Years, Mitterling's Fruit Farm Will Close Doors Forever

MT. PLEASANT MILLS (Westmoreland Co.) — As long as most local people can remember, Mitterling's Fruit Farm has always been a name associated with fresh fruit and good service.

Started in 1920 by James Fisher and his son-in-law John T. Mitterling, their 41.5 acres of apples, peaches, and raspberries were raised to be sold on location in Mt. Pleasant Mills, on street markets in Sunbury and Williamsport, or to be sold door-to-door in Shamokin, Mount Carmel, Kulpmont, and Atlas.

Mitterling's have always been known to have quality apples by winning more than 50 prizes for apples at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show.

Lester Mitterling, son of John T. Mitterling, along with his wife Shirley, took over the farm in 1964 and admits much was different in those early days.Many memories will live on after Mitterling's is gone, from the tragic death of John Mitterling while planting trees in 1972, to the Christmas Eve night spent protecting the trees from a brush fire, to that stately old Yellow Delicious tree that yielded 72 bushels one year. With Lester retiring he says the thing he will miss most is the faithful customers who have become his friends. He states he will least miss the hard work and long hours.

Mitterling's Fruit Farm will be liquidated on May 7, at 9 a.m. by Ken Hassinger and Neil Courtney of Hassinger and Courtney Auctioneers. This auction will include the cold storage building, the orchard and retail equipment and of special mention will be the Chevy box truck bought brand new and used by Mitterling's since 1942.

For more information, contact Neil Courtney at (570) 539-8791, Ken Hassinger at (570) 658-3536, or Lester and Shirley Mitterling at (570) 539-8392.

ANNOUNCING

The opening of a new place, with an old name in the Dairy Business, to buy quality Dairy Cattle. As of May 1, 2003 we will have a top selection of registered and grade young cows and first calf heifers, both fresh and springing available for private sale daily at a new location in New Holland, PA.

Pictured below are some of the group of registered cattle that are current members of our milking herd that are all available for sale.

Shoremar James, Comestar Outside, Robthom Integrity, Dupasqurer Wildfire, Silkey Cousteau, Maughlin Storm

With several hundred owned cattle on farms in PA, N.Y. and New England and direct access to thousands more, we can fill the needs of any dairy man, whether it be for the right kind of commercial heifers, good honest milk cows, fancy registered cattle, complete herds, bulls, or embryos stop by or give us a call.

WHITE MOUNTAIN FREEZER THE ORIGINAL OLD-FASHIONED ICE CREAM FREEZER
Only White Mountain uses a 12,000 RPM universal motor that operates on AC or DC 115 volt current. 2. CAST IRON GEAR FRAME - White Mountain Freezers feature the unique Triple Motion Action with 3-gear drive. This process properly mixes the entire contents for the smoothest ice cream. 3. TUB-Freezer tubs are made of select New England pine with galvanized hoops. The tubs are fitted with cadmium plate fixtures. 4. CAN-Tall profile design allows cream to come in closer contact with ice and salt to give faster freezing. THE CANS ARE MANUFACTURED OF HEAVY DUTY STAINLESS STEEL THAT IS GUARANTEED FOR 5 YEARS. 5. DASHER & BLADES -Made of heavy duty cast iron and dipped in pure tin. It will never warp out of shape. The imported Norwegian Beechwood Blades are self-adjusting to ensure thorough scraping inside.

Vermeer Offers New, Compact, 6' 9" Gator® Mower

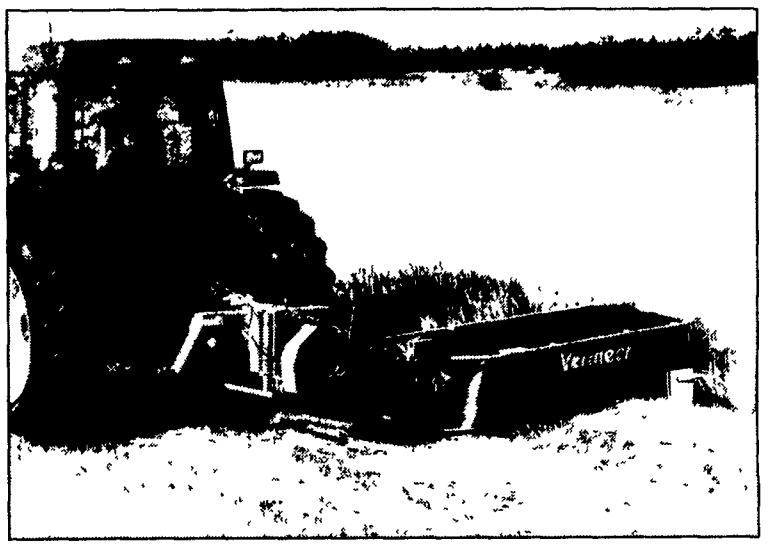
PELLA, Iowa — Vermeer is expanding their popular Gator® Mower series with a new small, 3-point-mounted, disc-style model designed specifically for smaller horsepower tractors and acres.

The new Vermeer® 5030 Gator Mower features a clean, reinforced, easy-to-handle design with Kevlar curtain protection, a low-profile streamlined cutterbar and an easy-to-service hex bi-shaft drive to help simplify cutterbar service and maintenance.

The leading edge of the low-profile cutterbar is reinforced throughout, yet tapered for close clean cutting action, thus enabling the 5030 to reduce "streaking" and improve performance across a wider variety of crops and conditions.

The 5030 cuts 6' 9" wide with just a minimum 45 hp tractor (Cat. II, 3 Point Hitch). One auxiliary single-acting hydraulic remote is required. Cutting heights are infinitely variable from 1¼" to 2½"; optional topping shoes allow you to raise heights up to 3⅞".

The heavy-duty cutting discs (5) are a full 33% thicker than some competitive models. The reversible, shatter-resistant cutting knives are austemper heat-treated, and thicker and longer than those typically used in the field. Double-wide skids reduce "pinch point" problems caused by rocks. "Bi-shaft" cutterbar design provides all the advantages of a hex shaft drive for easier servicing ... without the disadvantages of multi-shaft backlash. The 5030 also features a heavy-duty gearbox housing, reinforced with boxed section gussets, to handle tough mowing conditions.



New, 3-point-mounted Vermeer Gator mower designed for smaller horsepower tractors.

Curtain protection consists of extremely strong, yet lightweight, material with Kevlar reinforcement. The Gator Mower is also one of the only mower lines in the field tested to SAE J232 (Industrial Rotary Mowers) and ASAE S474 (Agricultural Mower Safety) standards.

A spring-loaded trip-and-slide enables the frame to break away when encountering large, immovable obstacles. An enclosed, deep-seated V-belt drive system provides slip protection for both mower and tractor.

Land O'Lakes CEO Outlines 2002 Results

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Land O'Lakes recorded $98.9 million in net earnings in 2002, driven primarily by proceeds from successful vitamin price-fixing litigation settlements. In addition, the national food and agricultural cooperative generated positive bottom line contributions from its Ag Services and Dairy Foods branded and proprietary, value-added business segments.

These results, which were released in early February, were included in Land O'Lakes Chief Financial Officer Dan Knutson's report to delegates and visitors at the national food and agricultural cooperative's 2003 Annual Meeting.

In outlining what he termed a challenging year, Knutson told the Minneapolis Convention Center audience that Land O'Lakes realized losses in its commodity businesses due to a combination of slumping commodity markets, costs related to the restructuring of its Upper Midwest Dairy Foods manufacturing operations, and the start-up of its new, West Coast cheese and whey manufacturing facility (Cheese and Protein International - CPI).

Knutson also indicated that Land O'Lakes made progress in paying down debt and improved its balance sheet during 2002, after taking on significant additional debt with the acquisition of Purina Mills in late 2001.

"We prepaid $55 million of our term debt in 2002 and, already in 2003, we have paid down an additional $58 million," Knutson said. "As indicated in our annual report, our corresponding long-term debt to capital ratio improved from 56% to 51% as of December 31, 2002."

Land O'Lakes 2002 Financials: Sales, $5.8 billion, last year, $5.9 billion in 2001; Net Earnings, $98.9 million, last year, $71.5 million in 2001; Cash Returned to Members, $38 million, last year, $47 million in 2001; Equity, $912 million, last year, $837 million in 2001; Return on Equity, 11.8%, last year, 8.9% in 2001; Long-term Dept to Capital Ratio, 51.1%, last year, 56.1% in 2001.

Land O'Lakes (www.landolakesinc.com) is a national, farmer-owned food and agricultural cooperative, with annual sales of $6 billion. Land O'Lakes does business in all 50 states and more than 50 countries. It is a leading marketer of a full line of dairy-based consumer, foodservice and food ingredient products across the United States; serves its international customers with a variety of food and animal feed ingredients; and provides farmers and local cooperatives with an extensive line of agricultural supplies (feed, seed, crop nutrients and crop protection products) and services.

Woods/Tisco Offers Repair And Restoration Parts For Vintage Tractors

OREGON, Ill. — Woods Equipment Company has introduced Vintage Iron™, a new line of Tisco™ repair and restoration parts for tractors built from 1939 to 1969. Vintage Iron parts are available for a variety of tractors, including Allis Chalmers, Case, Cockshutt, Case/David Brown, Ford, IH/Farmall, John Deere, Massey Ferguson, Minneapolis Moline, Oliver, and White.

"We're providing tractor restoration enthusiasts with a broad line of parts manufactured to restoration standards," said Jerry Jelen, General Manager of Parts Aftermarket for Woods. "Vintage Iron parts can be purchased through any of our Tisco dealers, many of whom have a wealth of knowledge in tractor repair and restoration."

For additional restoration expertise, Tisco dealers can contact the company's technical assistance center. "Vintage Iron gives enthusiasts more than a repair part," said Jelen, "It gives them access to experts at the dealership and at Woods/Tisco."

McCormick Power6 Extends MC Series Of Tractors

PELLA, Iowa — McCormick International USA, Inc. recently introduced the new MC Power6 series, which adds more power to the versatile and popular MC series of tractors. The new Power6 models are the MC120 Power6 (115-hp) and MC135 Power6 (132-hp).

"The new MC120 Power6 and MC135 Power6 are a solid addition to McCormick's existing MC Series of four-cylinder tractors," said Chad Huyser, marketing manager for McCormick. "Whether customers choose a traditional four-cylinder MC90, MC100, or MC115 — or the new Power6 models — they can count on getting a relatively lightweight yet powerful workhorse of a tractor. These mid-range tractors are highly maneuverable, making them capable of handling a variety of jobs," said Huyser.

The MC Power6 tractors are the first agricultural tractors to use the new generation Perkins 1100-series six-cylinder engine. This engine has a new cylinder head with redesigned combustion chamber, and advanced electronic fuel management for highly responsive power and torque characteristics.

Compared with their four-cylinder counterparts, the MC Power6 models have more power and torque, a longer wheelbase, greater implement lift capacity, and a larger fuel tank. They can also be fitted with an independent front suspension to improve traction and driver comfort to complement the increased performance potential.

Both MC Power6 models use the renowned powershift transmission featured in McCormick tractors. In its standard form, this gives drivers fingertip access to four speeds in each of four ranges, with a total of 16 speeds forward, 12-reverse. With the creep option added, the number of speeds increases to 32-forward, 24-reverse.

Customers can also add the optional Speed Sequencer transmission, which gives operators a much higher level of versatility by allowing them to change speeds and ranges with the touch of a button. It also introduces an additional reverse speed (13 total), and duplicates hydraulic linkage lift buttons so that all major tasks can be operated using the Speed Sequencer controller.

The MC Power6 tractors offer a choice of a deluxe cab or ROPS. It is also available in either two-wheel drive or four-wheel drive configurations. Customers can also choose the optional Independent Front Suspension.

Our Specialty
We stock them, stock the parts, pinions, gears, bearings, seals & gaskets, splined out puts, shafts, housing adaptors/reducers, and pilot bearing holders. With little or no changes, these new clutch/gear reduction assemblies could fit your gas or diesel engine - 50-100hp. Five different gear ratios. A valuable link between your engine and power take-off shaft equipment.

CLUTCH / 5.8:1 Planetary Gear Reduction Assemblies

For 8-30 HP

Engines Fits most — Honda, Robin, Kohler, Kawasaki, others (1–2 cyl.)

- Fits most standard crankshafts – 1", 1⅛", 1⅞"
- Aluminum Castings/Housings
- Ball & roller bearings, hardened gears

INJECTORS

Have you serviced yours?

Bad Injectors Cause:

- Excessive Fuel Consumption
- Poor Starting
- Loss Of Power
- Misfiring
- Black Smoke
- Overheating

So service them regularly!
As always, injectors are checked free of charge

Maximize Your Yield Potential

When it comes to improving Relative Feed Value and maximizing the Crude Protein in hay, nothing outperforms the New Idea® 5209 Disc Mower Conditioner. Its high-speed disc cutterbar glides through fields with ease, even in extreme conditions. And the unique Ti-Cor® Conditioning Rolls gently condition the stems, speeding drydown.

The 5209's reliable design keeps you mowing and conditioning year after year. With the segmented cutterbar driveshaft, a New Idea innovation, the cutterbar is truly modular, which makes for easy maintenance.

To see the disc mower conditioner that'll exceed your expectations — not your budget, visit your AGCO® New Idea dealer today.

Today's Most Advanced Disc Mower Conditioner

GEHL. Model 2365

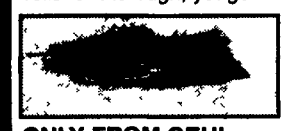
10' Cut In Stock for Immediate Delivery
Also Model 2345 9 Foot Cut In Stock

Long hood for less wind turbulence for cleaner cutting in thin crop stands.

A Gehl disc mower conditioner delivers exceptional cutting and conditioning, even in your most difficult crops and conditions.

Rugged high-speed cutting discs, spinning at 3,000 rpm, easily slice through down and tangled crops or dense wet undergrowth to deliver a clean cut.

The cut crop is delivered to Gehl's specially designed intermeshing rubber conditioning rolls for thorough, yet gentle crop conditioning. They'll condition your crop for fast drying.



ONLY FROM GEHL
The gear driven cutterbar (outlined in white) is protected. Gehl shields the cutterbar from rocks or other field obstructions with full-width skid shoes.

Easily replaceable disc drive assemblies. Drive stations can be removed individually for quick servicing. Bearings are sealed in grease The patented Protectadrive™ system protects the cutterbar gear train from damage in the event of disc contact with major field obstacles.

Choose A Quality Gehl Machine From Binkley & Hurst Bros. Today! Model 2412 Disc Mower Conditioner

The New Swing Frame Gehl 2412 Disc Mower Is Ready For Delivery

GEHL 12' Model

Cut Your Fields Down To Size!
Gehl swing-frames give you the capacity and maneuverability of a self-propelled mower conditioner at a pull-type price plus the advantages of high speed disc cutting technology

- Nine disc cutterbar delivers 11-foot, 7-inch cut
- Wide conditioning rolls for uniform, fast drying
- Full-width skid shoes protect the cutterbar
- Simple drive system for more reliability
- Change from windrow to swath in seconds - without tools

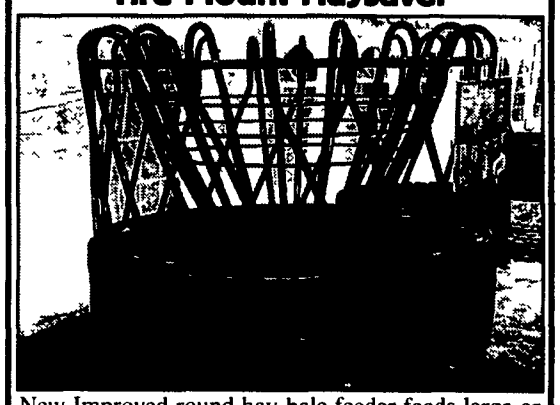
Tire Mount Haysaver



New Improved round hay-bale feeder feeds large or small bales. University proven hay savings. This feeder is built of heavy 1-1/4 schedule 40 pipe and mounted on a rubber base. The base will not rust or corrode from manure. Feeder is available with a steel center for use as a silage or TMR feeder.
Rubber bases are available to retrofit old Haysavers.

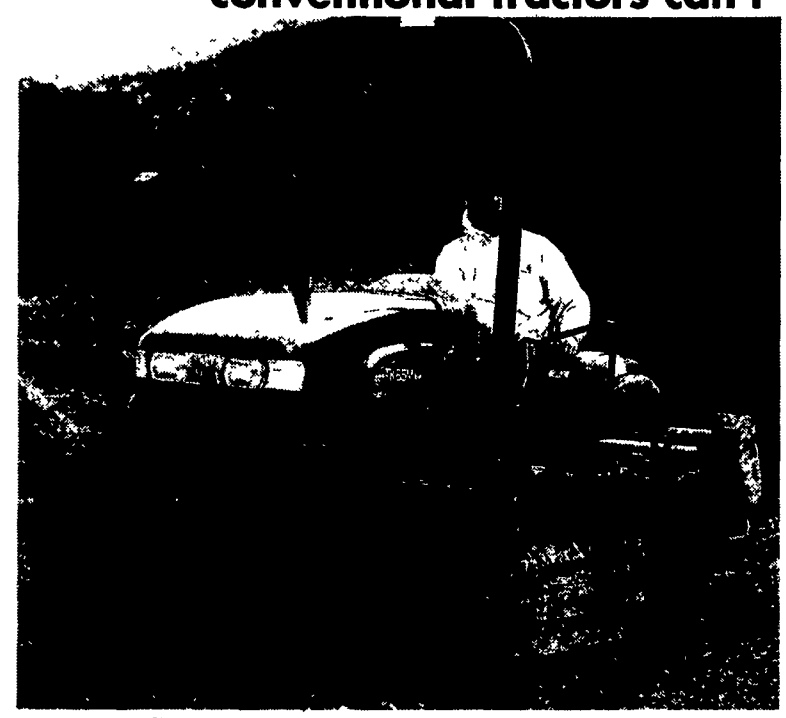
TK crawlers work where conventional tractors can't



Minimum slip
Since tracks keep slippage to a minimum, they boost performance The tractor is capable of pulling its own weight As a result, it can pull and drive wider implements than a conventional rubber-tired tractor of the same horsepower That increases efficiency and lowers operating costs

A TK crawler turns tighter than conventional tractors, too That's a big advantage in cramped quarters or when making headland turns

For extended road transportation, TK tracks can be fitted easily with clip-on steel pads or "street plates"

Low APR Financing for 36 Months Available

AG - EQUIPMENT SALES MANAGER

Position available to manage sales staff and customer service for used farm equipment dealer. Qualified applicants must have sales management experience, market and product knowledge.

Please call Rose at 717-866-2130 or fax resume to 717-866-4300.

Portable Tractor Saw

Cut cordwood, pulpwood, firewood, ties or any other type of wood anywhere Hook it up to your 3 point hitch, attach the PTO and move the Woodsman Saw to any location. As soon as you place a log on the sturdy 40" table, you'll get the feel of balanced-torque action A light hand pressure moves the log into the blade, release the pressure and the spring loaded table rocks back on dual roller bearings, ready for the next cut Built on a rugged steel frame, the Model 250 is engineered for years of heavy duty use

Model 250 Specifications

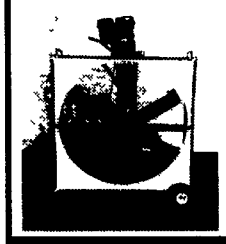
Saw blade	30" diameter
Table	40" x 10 1/2", mounted on dual roller bearings
Operating speed	1300 RPM
PTO speed	450 RPM
Depth of cut	12"
Drive	Matched V-belts
Shaft	Mounted on sealed, self-aligning ball bearings
Overall dimensions	38" x 44" x 44"
Safety shields	On blade & PTO shaft



Portable Barn Fans

Standard with 6 HP Robin engine
4½ HP Diesel or Hydraulic Motor Optional

Cut-Out Clutch Protection
No more burnt or hot discs to wrestle with. Great protection ... for those times when your baler's pulling harder on the outside rows, the tractor's overpowered, or you accidently overfill when trying to bale that last strip of hay.

Here's why:

- 5-bar pickup handles bigger windrows, faster speeds.
- Simple, horizontal bale-starting system is designed for fast starts.
- Bottom drum design lets you pull in hay faster, often allowing you to drive a full gear faster.
- Best HaySaver Wheels in the field.
- Up to 1200 lbs. in a single 65" dia. x 48" wide package; 2000 lb. capacity with silage baler option.
- Silage option lets you bale wet or dry without changing a thing.
- Make bales 17% larger* than a standard 5' dia. x 4' wide baler at virtually the same price!*

 determined by comparing volume measurement of a standard 60" dia x 48" wide bale versus a 65" dia x 48" wide Vermeer bale*

 Price comparison is based on published list prices (Y2000) between Vermeer 554XL Series Baler and other 5' x 4' competitive round baler models*

Vermeer

check it out! 17% more bale size than standard 5' x 4' bales

AGCO QUALITY PARTS

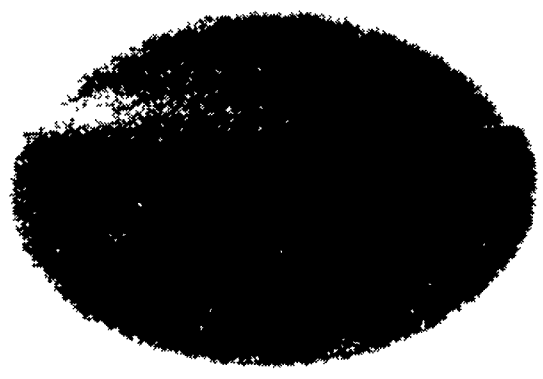
#1 SOURCE FOR PARTS

MASSEY FERGUSON®

Controller + Preservative = Quality Hay

With AGCO buffered acid hay preservative, it's possible to bale hay from 16% to 30% moisture. Combined with our Model 464 Controller, hay moisture is monitored for precise preservative application rates. See us before you bale.

We Turn the Earth



With a product as superior as AGCO Tillage it's no wonder we think we make the earth move. AGCO Tillage parts are designed for all AGCO brand tillage equipment as well as competitive makes and models. Expect the best. Expect AGCO Quality.

AgriCulver Seeds Releases Production Bulletin

TRUMANSBURG, N.Y. — Traditionally, Northeast dairy farmers have grown corn and alfalfa hay as their staple feeds. However, many acres in the Northeast are not well suited for profitable production of these crops.

Recent studies by AgriCulver Seeds, Cornell Cooperative Extension, and others has shown that BMR sorghum-sudan grown in combination with winter triticale can provide dairy producers with an alternative cropping system for superior production on marginal soils.

This combination has the ability to significantly increase the quantity and quality of forage for dairy operations and satisfy government requirements for nutrient management and erosion control on highly erodible land (HEL).

When the two crops are grown sequentially, the ground has a crop growing on it 11 or more months of the year. Additionally, in university research, both crops have shown their superior ability to uptake phosphorous and nitrogen from the soil and convert it into quality forage.

When compared to the New York State average of 15 ton corn silage, Bovine Bounty™ and TriCal® 336, grown in sequence, can out produce average and below average corn silage by as much as 7,000 pounds of milk per acre (using Wisconsin's Milk 2000 equations). Both BMR sorghum-sudan and triticale have the ability to produce high yields on ground that is marginal for corn or alfalfa production.

When incorporated into dairy rations, the nutritional quality of these crops provides increased animal health, milk production, and profitability. In fact, Dairy Banquet® Bovine Bounty BMR sorghum-sudan has demonstrated the ability to reduce the total ration cost by $0.07-$0.10 per cow per day at the same percent of forage in the diet as corn silage.

TriCal® 336 winter triticale, with its high protein and fiber digestibility also adds to feed savings by reducing the need for purchased concentrates and increasing the dry-matter intake from forages. Research also indicates that feeding triticale forage may reduce phosphorus excretion by livestock.

Because Dairy Banquet® Bovine Bounty and TriCal® 336 winter triticale are highly digestible, a dairy producer's feeding program will need to be changed in order to capitalize on the added nutritional value. Additional savings could be realized by increasing the dry-matter intake from forages to 60 percent. Dairy producers should be sure to work closely with their nutritionist to properly balance the diet.

CNH Board Announces Annual Dividend

LAKE FOREST, Ill. — The Board of Directors of CNH Global N.V. (NYSE:CNH) has recommended a dividend of $.05 per share for the year 2002. Prior to the declaration of the dividend, the company expects to complete its recapitalization plan and implement the 1-for-5 reverse split of CNH common stock announced separately March 5. On a post-split basis, the dividend will be $.25 per share.

Declaration of the dividend is subject to approval at the Annual Shareholders Meeting, which will be held on Thursday, May 8, at the company's registered offices in Amsterdam, the Netherlands. If approved, the dividend will be payable on June 2, 2003 to shareholders of record at close of business on May 18, 2003.

Galvanized or Galvalume?

For metal roofing and siding, which is better, painted Galvanized or painted Galvalume?. Galvanizing is many times better if it's mill certified G100. Why is it better? Galvanizing tends to "heal" when scratched. The more galvanizing, the better. Everlast is ten times better at "healing" than galvalume because galvalume hardly "heals" at all when scratched. Also cut edges rust quickly on galvalume.

THIS WEEK'S SPECIAL
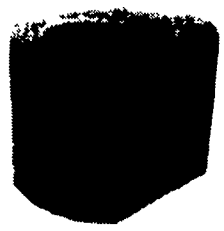
Proven to Work Since 1984



• After marketing for years our customers tell us it's still the best and unique drinker you can buy today.
• Units have non-siphoning all plastic 3/4" water valve.
• Units have 3/4" PVC shut off-and-on ball valve right behind water valve
• Drinker lid is designed w/no grooves on top that can encourage bacteria-germs that could seep inside unit.
• The Poly-Drinkers are high density urethane foam insulated with drain plugs, proven to work outside in our area
• Also available with 2 holes.
• We also carry Badger and Ritchie waterers

BEEF TIPS
Keep replacement heifers separate during the winter so extra feed can be provided. Keep enough replacements so that any cow that needs culling can be culled. Calve heifers 20 days ahead of the cow herd to allow them extra time to begin cycling before the breeding season begins. Breed replacement heifers to calving ease bulls.

ADM Alliance Nutrition™
Proven Performance from Innovative Nutrition℠

DAIRY RESEARCH PROGRAM

• New Applications • Product Development

Initial development work is conducted at the Ruminant Intensive Research Unit at the Decatur, IN Research Center. At this facility, with 20 cannulated lactating cows, research emphasizes the development of products and feeding programs that improve rumen function.

From this initial development work, products with commercial applications are evaluated at the Twin Oaks Dairy, a 500-cow dairy unit at Emmittsburg, MD.

The Twin Oaks Dairy field research is a key segment of the successful dairy feed product development program for Alliance Nutrition. At this facility, individual cow identification, daily milk production and weekly measurements of milk components enable us to monitor and evaluate individual cow response to the ingredients, feed products and feeding programs being tested.

This data is used to validate the commercial success of the Alliance Nutrition dairy feeding programs and enhances the confidence of commercial success of these products and programs for our dairy customers.
